Unsavory Remains of Marine Monster Baffle Up-Island Fishermen

Identification of mass of decomposed flesh washed ashore at Willow Point, six miles south of Campbell River last Friday night, has baffled local residents. Remains clearly show skull, long neck, what could be flippers at base of neck, massive body, and long tail.

Scientists, who have not yet seen remains, suggest basking shark. A well-known Victoria fisherman, Elgin Neish, said it was "possibly" a Davis whale. In lower picture, Carl Erickson, fishing guide, raises skull for inspection. Carcass measures 18 feet.

NEW SPECULATION

U.S. Millionaire Claimed Behind Escape of Beria

Plan Reported in Making For at Least Three Years

NEW YORK (UP)—Sources close to Clendenin Ryan said today the millionaire socialite and several associates had "invested several million dollars" in what they believes has been a successful attempt to smuggle Lavrenti Beria from behind the Iron Curtain.

The sources said Ryan had had agents in Russia for at least three years and had laid the groundwork at the time of Stalin's death for the escape of a defecting or deposed contender for his power.

One source said he believed Ryan had himself gone behind the Iron Curtain to meet his agents.

Ryan was said to be "not in" at his New York and New Jersey homes and at his Manhattan office.

Sources said he had conferred frequently over several years with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R—Wis.) and other senators regarding his apparently private spy ring. He was said to have been in touch also with Col. Ulio Amoss, who told reporters he had been approached in July by a man claiming to represent Beria.

From 'Purely 'Patriotic' Motives

Ryan and his associates were said to have acted from purely "patriotic" motives in an attempt to secure top Soviet secrets for the United States. The plot was said to have been laid in the expectation that at least one highly-placed Russian leader would fall from the heap in the struggle for power after Stalin's death.

Ryan, 48-year-old grandson and heir of the late financier Thomas Fortune Ryan, has been active in Republican reform politics for many years . . . He was on the secretarial staff of the late Mayor Fiorello H. Laguardia and at one time indicated his intention to run as an independent reform candidate for mayor. He withdrew that candidacy. He is presently a possible independent candidate for governor of New Jersey.

Ryan is a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of a Texas oil firm and a Portugese diamond company.

He served in the Second World War as a navy commander in the Pacific.

Story Received With Skepticism

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government officials expressed skepticism today about a report that deposed Soviet leader Lavrenti P. Beria has escaped from Russia.

The report came from a highly-placed informant on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's senate investigating subcommittee. The informant, who would not let his name be used, said Beria is "in contact" with subcommittee agents abroad and is eager to come to this country to "tell all he knows about the international Communist conspiracy."

Beria, once the number two man in the Kremlin, was fired July 9 as head of the Russian secret police and charged with treason. Western authorities have assumed that he was in a Soviet prison awaiting trial, but there has been no direct word on his whereabouts.

The McCarthy subcommittee informant conceded the possibility that Beria's reported escape may be a gigantic hoax. He first told reporters flatly that "Beria has been out of Russia for more than a month and the subcommittee has been in personal contact with him for a considerable length of time." Later, however, he said the subcommittee is still investigating the matter and does not yet have conclusive proof that the man claiming to be Beria is the deposed Soviet leader.

No confirmation of the report could be obtained from government agencies which normally would be concerned with such an affair.

State department Officials said they knew absolutely nothing about the case. A White House spokesman said he assumed that if Beria wished to contact U.S. officials he would make his approach through diplomatic or intelligence channels rather than through a senate subcommittee.

Mother of Three Dies of Polio; Fourth Fatality

Three New Cases During Week-End

Fourth fatality from the current polio outbreak here, a mother of three, Mrs. Annie Bosworth Wadsworth, 35, 189 Regina Street, died this morning, seven days after being admitted to hospital.

There were three new cases over the week-end also, two of them a boy and girl from the same family.

A 17-year-old girl and her brother, 14, were rushed to Jubilee Hospital isolation ward from Langford on Saturday. On Sunday, a 38-year-old man from View Royal was admitted.

Jubilee Hospital administrator, George Masters, reports the influx of new patients has created no new equipment difficulties. Seven iron lungs are in use with two still available as spares.

The hospital is still using respirators loaned by other city hospitals and has received three new lungs recently.

70 CASES

Total number of polio cases on the Island this year now stands at 70, with 57 cases occurring in Greater Victoria. The death of Mrs. Wadsworth increases to four the number of deaths, all from this area.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wadsworth will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. from St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road. Canon Robert Willis will officiate and interment will be at Royal Oak.

Surviving are her husband, Bernard; a son, Paul, and two daughters, Doreen and Gail. Father of the deceased, David R. Smith, and a brother, David, also reside here. A sister, Mrs. Ethel Vandale, lives in Calgary.

PSYCHOPATHIC GRABBED IN AG's OFFICE

A 60-year-old escapee from Essondale Mental Hospital who attempted a bank hold-up here in 1951 with an air gun, was recaptured today in the Parliament Buildings where he was attempting to see Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Police were called to the attorney-general's office after the escapee, John Hughes, caused a disturbance when he was refused an immediate appointment with Mr. Bonner.

Purpose of his visit was not known.

RCMP took the man without a struggle and he was to be returned to Essondale.

Hughes was committed to the hospital after a charge of attempted robbery was withdrawn in city police court in August two years ago.

He confronted a teller at the Government Street branch, Royal Bank of Canada, and demanded she cash a cheque for $15,000.

When the teller refused, he fired the gun and ran from the bank, to be arrested a few hours later.

Mystery Shot Wounds Guard At Iron River

CAMPBELL RIVER — Joe 'French' Sala, gatekeeper at the Iron River Logging Co. road south of here, was rushed to Lourdes Hospital Sunday suffering a gunshot wound received while in his cabin.

He said he was lying on his bunk when struck by a bullet which he said came through his cabin wall. RCMP are investigating.

He was taken to hospital by two hunters who were approaching the cabin to ask permission to go through the gate when Sala rushed from his cabin with blood streaming down his face.

Reds Demand Superbomb Ban

Vishinsky Puts New Plan Before UN; Armament Limitations Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Russia called upon the UN today to impose without delay an unconditional ban on the production of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The Soviet proposal was laid before the 60-nation general assembly during a major policy declaration by deputy foreign minister Andrei Visinsky.

The Soviet delegate also served notice that Russia was ready to make a vigorous fight to get the assembly to revise its earlier decision barring neutral countries as representatives at the Korean peace conference. The Communist demands on this, he said, are justified and must be met.

The Soviet proposals on atomic control included hydrogen weapons by name, but otherwise followed closely Soviet disarmament resolutions of previous sessions.

Vishinsky assailed the United States as the real cause of world tension, charged Western policy in Germany threatened to touch off a new war and declared the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was aimed at weakening the UN.

FOUR POINTS

The Soviet disarmament resolution—first Soviet move on this subject since the death of Stalin and the accession of Georgi Malenkov as premier—had four points:

1. Immediate and unconditional prohibition of the atomic and hydrogen bombs with the security council—where Russia has the veto—to supervise compliance.

2. Immediate one-third reduction by the big five—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China—in their armed forces with a conference shortly afterwards to discuss reduction of the armed forces of other countries.

3. Dismantling of military bases maintained in foreign countries. This was an obvious reference to the United States for Vishinsky had denounced U.S. bases overseas earlier in his speech.

4. Condemnation of propaganda tending to stimulate warlike psychosis.

The disarmament proposal was made as Vishinsky concluded a speech which lasted one hour and 43 minutes.

The Soviet delegate told the 60-nation general assembly the decision taken by the assembly last month ran counter to the armistice agreement in recommending that only countries representing the two belligerents should take part in the parley.

"The recommendation of this assembly must be brought into conformity with the armistice agreement," he said.

The United States has insisted that the armistice restricted the representation in the peace conference to the two sides, but the Russians have sought to make it a round-table affair by inviting India and other neutrals.

Vishinsky spoke from notes. In the past when he has not had a prepared text it indicated he had received new instructions too late for inclusion in a written speech.

Egypt Police Arrest Two Ex-Premiers

CAIRO, Egypt, (UP) — Government police arrested two former premiers and 11 other Egyptians today in swift predawn raids on homes of officials of ex-king Farouk's monarchy.

Authorities announced that 10 had been jailed and three placed under house arrest.

The government gave no immediate explanation for the arrests, but spokesmen for President Mohammed Naguib warned late last week that anti-government plotters would be brought to trial.

Most prominent of the arrested Egyptians were former premiers Mustafa El Nahas and Ibrahim Abdel Hadi and former cabinet chief Hafez Afifi.

Nahas, leader of the once-powerful Wafdist party, had been premier of Egypt five times. Abdel Hadi had been leader of the Saadist party.

Squadron leader Hassan Ibrahim, a judge on the military tribunal which will try Egyptians charged with plotting against the Naguib government, said the first case will be heard next Saturday.

"Apart from cases of treason, the tribunal will deal with acts involving corruption, profiteering and abuse of authority which took place in the past such as the defective arms bought for the Palestine War," Ibrahim said.

Korean Pilot Turns Over Mig to Allies

SEOUL (AP) — A daring North Korean pilot today handed the Allies a sleek Mig-15 jet fighter—the deadly Red warplane for which the United States offered $100,000 last February.

The Mig's guns were still armed when it raced unheralded from North Korea and made a perfect landing at sprawling Kimpo air base near Seoul.

It was the first Mig to fall into Allied hands in Korea. The Russian-built, swept-wing fighters never left their own air over Red territory during the war.

The UN command said the $100,000 reward offered for the first Mig to bolt to the Allies is still in effect.

There was no quick reaction from the Communists.

In Tokyo, Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Forces commander, said the flier was a North Korean.

Weyland announced the jet was from a "North Korean air unit." It is being studied by U.S. Air Force officers.

IDENTITY WITHHELD

The pilot's name will not be revealed unless he personally consents.

An American pilot who met him said the flier pulled a picture of a girl from his blue flying suit and tore it up. The American pieced together the shreds of the picture, which he

Douks Remanded; Eight More Guilty

37 Convicted, Seven Acquitted; Warden Invited to Dine as Fast Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—In the makeshift court in a Burnaby hall, 37 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, scheduled to be sentenced today for parading in the nude in public, were remanded until Friday. The prisoners include four women.

The remand was ordered when the court was told that prisoners' documents had not arrived from Nelson. Magistrate Graham Ladner had requested the records of the men and women before pronouncing sentence.

The accused were the first of 144 Sons of Freedom members convicted following the opening of the trials last Thursday. They were arrested at the Perry Siding tent village near Nelson following a nude demonstration Sept. 9.

Following the remand today eight more Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were found guilty of parading in the nude, but seven others were acquitted on the charge.

One of the women who was acquitted of the charge protested violently, and tried to disrobe in the court. Royal Canadian Mounted Police restrained her, however.

The eight convicted Freedomites were remanded until Friday for sentencing. Their convictions brought to 37 the total number of members of the religious Russian sect found guilty of disrobing at Perry's Siding, B.C., in a mass parade.

Meanwhile, at Oakalla Prison, Warden Hugh Christie said the Doukhobors have virtually ended their fast. The hunger strike started Sept. 9.

They consumed large quantities of vegetables, and cases of fruit juices during the week-end and today invited Warden Christie to a borsch luncheon. He did not say if he would attend.

ADDED REASON

KRESTOVA (CP)—Quarrels between factions in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect were seen today as an added reason for unrest in the turbulent Kootenays.

The Freedomites, 144 of their number now facing trial at Vancouver, have long acknowledged Stefan S. Sorokin as their spiritual leader. Recent home burnings and nude parades were taken as a protest against a government edict that they send their children to school. It was a demonstration against this edict that landed the 144 in prison.

But Doukhobor sources also stated Sunday that a faction led by John Lebedoff, who in the past has served a jail term for arson, still challenges the leadership right of the bearded Sorokin. This could lead to violent repercussions among the Freedomites.

Lebedoff, whose whereabouts in the Kootenays are not divulged here, swings considerable weight in the ranks of the radical sect, but has never won title of leadership in the sense of Sorokin. Sorokin is in Uruguay.

Dickinson, Wilkes Named Boxla Refs for Tonight

By BILL WALKER

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is not bowing to Peterborough demands concerning referees in the current Mann Cup lacrosse championships.

Thus president Jim McLeod of the CLA today explained the appointment of referees Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes for tonight's fourth game of the series which is virtually assured of being a sellout.

McLeod said that Dickinson's and Wilkes' appointment originally was made Thursday and had no bearing whatsoever on the Peterborough threat not to take the floor tonight if Gordy Folka was named as one of the officials.

"I want it understood that Peterborough is in no way intimidating us," he said of coach Bobby Thorpe's statement that the Petes would protest the use of Folka.

Memorial Arena officials stated at noon today that less than 100 tickets were available and that "they are going like hotcakes." Near capacity crowds attended the first three games.

Peterborough leads the series two games to one. Game time is 8.30.

WITH BESSIE IN JAPAN

Audience Contorted With Tears As Kabuki Star Whips Emotions

Miss Forbes is in Japan for a six weeks' tour and is sending her dispatches from the points of interest she visits. She traveled to Tokyo with Canada's Ambassador to Japan, Robert W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew. Since her arrival she has traveled wherever her fancy took her.

By BESSIE FORBES
Times Women's Editor

I have watched the great Kichieman walk from the green room, along the hanamichi or "flower way," through the left section of the famed Kabuki-za (za for theatre) in Tokyo. So close, I could see the heavy brocades and the silver and gold in his authentic costume as staff officer of a feudal lord of the 15th century in Japan. So close, I could watch the tremendous restraint on his face and the working of the muscles of his throat as he used his voice (deep and almost hoarse in its force) to convey to his audience the meaning of the part he was portraying.

I saw the intense interest of Japanese theatre-goers around me and actually felt their excitement as Kichieman worked on their emotions. And I was not surprised at the spontaneous shouts and almost screams from every part of the theatre . . . the tears and contorted faces of both men and women as they followed the meaning of the play . . . which we would have called a tragedy.

But nevertheless it contained so much grace of movement . . . of color and of perfect staging . . . the tragedy was almost submerged . . . at least for me.

In the same performance . . . but in another play . . . was Tokizo, veteran omagata (actor playing women's parts), who had all the skill born of years of training in such castings. Walk, movements of the hands and body, the soft falsetto voice and the costumes worn were so essentially feminine, it was hard to believe it was an actor in the part.

Kabuki-za in Tokyo seats 2,000 people on a main floor, in side sections containing boxes and in two balconies . . . square in shape, not curved.

The evening performance started at 4.30 p.m. and continued until 10.30. Just before the doors opened I joined a huge line-up of Japanese people, old and young, a good percentage wearing kimonos (especially the women) and many with their evening meals wrapped in gay furoshi-ki (square kerchief in which both men and women in this country carry parcels).

When the doors opened, everyone dashed . . . even those with the better seats and there was a great elbowing and jockeying for position. During the performance of three plays and two lighter numbers . . . divertisements to us . . . none of the Japanese was still. They were continually running out for more food . . . to buy pictures of the actors . . . or just to talk and smoke.

Except when the great Kichieman was on the flower way or the stage (he appeared in one play during the evening), Then, every seat was filled, television and radio people were everywhere . . . also the photographers.

Kabuki-za stage is 70 feet wide (read this and weep, Victoria). And, almost as deep, from the look of the last scene in the last play (a geisha quarter of Tokyo with a boulevard of blossoming trees and long-poled lanterns extended down centre, from the footlights into the dim backstage as far as you could see). It was no illusion either, for the actors appeared from the wings where the cherry trees stopped.

The stage revolved for rapid shifting of the extravagant scenes (in Kabuki everything is a little larger than life-size, even

Reds Deny Knowledge of 3,404 UN PWs

3 Canadians Among Those in Dispute

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Communists said today most of the 3,404 Allied troops — including three Canadians — for whom the UN command demanded an accounting "have never been captured at all."

At the same time, the Communists demanded an accounting for 98,742 North Koreans and Chinese they said were captured by the Allies and are missing.

The Reds gave their long-awaited answer to the Sept. 9 Allied demand that the Communists produce the men or disclose what happened to them at a meeting of the joint military armistice commission.

The missing troops — more than 900 Americans, 2,400 South Koreans and nearly 50 from Commonwealth and other Allied nations — were once believed captured, but neither released in the prisoner exchange nor reported dead.

NEVER BEEN CAPTURED

The Reds called the Allied list "crudely manufactured without having been carefully checked," but reserved the right "to make further concrete comment."

The Reds said 519 of the 3,404 Allied listed as missing already have been returned. They said 380 others were "released at the front" during the war, had escaped, or are dead.

They said part of the remainder refused repartiation but "most of the total have never been captured at all."

The Reds are expected to deliver to the demilitarized zone Thursday more than 300 South Korean and about 20 non-Korean prisoners not otherwise identified who they say refused repatriation. The following day, UN command interview teams are expected to start trying to persuade them to return home, in accordance with the armistice terms.

Granted political asylum in the United States Dr. Marek Stanislaw Korowicz, above, member of the Polish delegation to the United Nations, who fled to the west Friday, will join Radio Free Europe to take an active role in the fight against Communism. Korowicz spent the weekend at a country hideaway where friends spirited him Friday after he slipped away from the Polish delegation's headquarters in a New York hotel.

A-Bombs Seen In Category Of Poison Gas

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP) — The thought is kicking around in military circles that nuclear superbombs may go the way of poison gas as weapons.

Before disclosure of Russia's recent H-bomb and A-bomb tests this idea either had little currency or was kept well suppressed. The general assumption was that the next big war, if any, would be fought with atomic weapons of many kinds.

But Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson suggested in a speech at Quantico, Va., Saturday that U.S. and Russian super weapons might well "cancel themselves out."

How widely this idea is shared among administration officials is not known.

Nations for various reasons have not used poison gas since the First World War. But they have continued to shoot high explosives at each other and have employed such weapons as phosphorous and jellied gasoline bombs.

And the way the armed services have been competing with each other for atomic weapons suggests they have every intention of using them if war comes.

CHEAPEST?

The fact is that in terms of destructive power they are the cheapest weapons in the whole arsenal. This fact was pointed up last Thursday by Dr. Hubert N. Alyea, Princeton University physicist, in a speech at Atlantic City.

The A-bomb, he said, is "astonishingly cheap." He said 1,000 bombs, "enough to wipe out most of the important cities in any nation, would cost only $2,000,000,000." The atomic bomb, Alyea added, "is 10 times cheaper than ordinary explosives, a fact which completely upsets the old-time balance between cost of bomb and the value of property destroyed."

IN CABINET — Jean Lesage, 41-year-old lawyer who has represented Montmagny-L'Islet, Que., in Parliament since 1946, has been appointed Minister of Resources and Development. He was named parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbot last January. He had served as parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson in 1951 and 1952. Mr. Lesage was born in Montreal June 10, 1912.

Local Option Liquor Vote Backed Here

Citizens' Assn. Head States Group Stand

Citizens should be given an opportunity to vote on any question relating to the establishment of new liquor outlets in their community, M. F. Hunter, president of the Greater Victoria Citizens' Association, said today.

Mr. Hunter's statement came in reply to George A. Cran, head of Vancouver's Citizens' Committee for a common sense liquor law, who said here Friday that the 1952 plebiscite showed British Columbians wanted liquor by the glass, and that local option votes now would be a waste of money.

Mr. Hunter said the Victoria citizens' committee took the opposite stand.

He suggested that many people voted yes in the 1952 plebiscite because they thought the present liquor system unsatisfactory.

He argued it was not to be assumed these people were in favor of having new liquor outlets established in their own communities.

$130,260 Bid Wins Cowichan High Contract

Contract has been awarded to A. V. Richardson Ltd. of Duncan at contract figure of $130,260 for alterations and additions to the Lake Cowichan junior-senior high school.

Announcement of the award is made by Col. J. H. Boyd, secretary-treasurer of School District No. 66.

The Richardson firm bid was the lowest of two submitted, the other being Cowichan Housing Ltd., quoting $131,836.

The two-story frame addition measuring 77x61 feet will contain four classrooms, boys' and girls' basement showers and toilet facilities on the first and second floors.

Plans and specifications for the Cowichan Lake school job were prepared by Victoria architects Wade & Stockdill.

Work on the school will be started at once and it is hoped to have the new building ready for occupancy after the Easter holidays next year.

Royal City Men Drowned As Boat Tips

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)— RCMP today identified the victims of a fishing accident that claimed two lives Saturday as Paul Joseph Belland, 30, and William Kenneth Knutson, 33, both of New Westminster.

The men were drowned in the Sumas River near here Saturday when their small boat capsized during a fishing expedition. Two companions reached shore safely.

Bodies of the men were recovered Saturday, but police withheld their names until today pending notification of next-of-kin.

Survey Shows 74% Use Liquor In U.S. Colleges

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)— Nearly three-fourths of the nation's college students drink, and most of them associate liquor with "morally questionable sexual behavior," Yale University disclosed today in its long-awited "booze" report.

The 214-page report, entitled "Drinking in College," disclosed that 74 per cent of the 17,000 students questioned imbibe. Forty-five per cent of the men and 56 per cent of the women drinkers said they had their first taste of the stuff before they were 11 years old.

Men and women in 27 colleges of all types were surveyed.

The study disclosed that girls at women's colleges drink more than co-eds, and that students at "dry" colleges who disobey the rules are more likely to get drunk than students at colleges with no alcohol taboos. At the dry colleges, 68 per cent of the men and 39 per cent of the women said they drink.

Six per cent of the men and 1 per cent of the women imbibers showed positive signs of being potential alcoholics.

This was higher than the national figure for problem drinkers—4 per cent.

A three-way tie resulted in the western competitions, the trophy being shared by J. B. Leahy, A. Temblett and Bob Owens, all of Victoria.

C. C. Carpenter's Folly was winner of the open jumping event with Gamelin, ridden by Fred Ball, second: Margaret, ridden by Bob Wallin, of Nanaimo, third, and Flash, ridden by Gillian Dunlop, fourth.

The show was judged by E. T. Merfeld, from Bellevue, Washington.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN SUNDAY

Magnificent 'Few' Honored

A tribute was paid Saturday to the memorable few which won the Battle of Britain, but died in the effort, when a wreath was placed on the Cenotaph here by the Air Force Officers' Association.

The act followed a dinner attended by 40 ex-officers and representatives of the other services, to mark the 13th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

Chief speaker was Air Marshal Sir Phillip Livingstone, who recalled the small force of defending aircraft which broke Hitler's attack in the spring of 1940.

The biggest attack was launched September 1, but by September 15, the tide had turned. The Germans lost 1,730 planes and the British casualties numbered 376 pilots killed and 358 wounded.

Remarking on the subsequent saturation bombing of parts of Germany, Sir Phillip said he was amazed at the reconstruction of that shattered nation.

"I did not think that any country could recover from such devastation," he said.

He called attention to the present world difficulties with Communism . . . "You can't hold the world down by hatred," he said.

The wreath was laid by Flt. Lieut. R. Hamill, Squadron Leader J. Martin and Rev. William Hills.

Albert Einstein produced his first paper on the relativity theory in 1905, when he was 26 years old.

Belmont High School Calling for Tenders

Construction of the Belmont High School will go ahead immediately, it is announced by Sooke School District No. 62.

The site is on Station Road at Langford.

Building will contain six classrooms with 60x90 feet combined gymnasium, auditorium and various administration offices.

The two-story structure will be of frame and stucco and will be heated by a hot-water system.

The Belmont High School is the second unit planned for the Sook district and is part of a $750,000 program authorized by money by-law last year.

Next unit to be started will be a high school at Milne's Landing.

Red China Ousts Finance Minister

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China ousted its finance minister and the secretary-general of the central government's administration council in a weekend shakeup which observers here feel was ordered because the nation is lagging in the first year of its five-year plan.

The official Red New China news agency reported that radio Peiping made the announcement during the 28th meeting of the central people's government council.

Shifts were made in 13 departments including the ministries of post offices, foods, light industry, forests, labor, culture, banks and state planning council.

No reason was given for the changes.

However, the Reds have admitted that individual departments of industry have failed to meet their goals.

8,000 Interior IWA Members Reject Award; Strike Looming

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The threat of strike action by woodworkers on two interior fronts grew stronger today.

The policy committee of the International Woodworkers of America Union met here Saturday night and recommended that their workers in the southern interior reject a three-cent an hour wage increase as suggested by a majority award of a conciliation board.

Meanwhile, IWA workers in the northern interior were readying for a strike vote Friday. Northern interior operators rejected a six-cent an hour wage boost as recommended by another conciliation board majority report.

A total of 8,000 workers are affected.

FLIERS HIT SHARKS ON NOSE DURING 22 HOURS IN ATLANTIC

NEW YORK (AP)—Two U.S. Air Force men told today of fighting off sharks with their fists during 22 hours in the choppy Atlantic.

They were among six survivors of a B-29 which caught fire and crashed in the Atlantic Friday. They arrived here aboard the ship Nassau.

The Coast Guard is continuing the search for seven missing crew members.

Sgt. Charles Graybill of Landsdowne, Pa., said he and James B. Henderson of Flushing, Mich., floated for 22 hours in their inflated Mae Wests. They had lashed themselves together with nylon cord.

Graybill said they developed a one-two punch to keep sharks away. Henderson said: "They'd come up. I remembered something I had read, if you hit them on the snout they take off. It worked."

CLAXTON BEFORE MAYORS

UN in Korea Compared To Police in Community

MONTREAL (BUP) — Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said today the United Nations police action in Korea was as successful in stopping war as a municipal policeman arresting a robber.

Claxton opened the international municipal conference drawing 1,200 mayors and municipal representatives from 800 cities in Canada and the United States, and some from the United Kingdom and Europe.

"When your forces for the maintenance of order succeed in stopping armed robbery with violence, then that is a triumph of municipal government," Claxton told the mayors. "What has been done in Korea is precisely the same kind of police action in the international sphere.

"Some people deplore and deprecate this because it has not resulted in victory. The end of police action is not victory; the end of police action is peace."

Claxton said the end of fighting in Korea and the more friendly attitude displayed by Russian diplomats was no reason for easing up on the western rearmament program.

"There is a disposition on the part of some people to regard defense today as something that is of interest only when a war breaks out in Korea, or a soldier commits a crime, or when some new development of the Buck Rogers type is reported, usually prematurely and sometimes inaccurately, the defense minister said.

"We have decided to play from strength, not weakness. Just because Mr. Vishinsky goes to a dinner party in New York is no reason for changing that policy."

HEARING-AID OF THE WEEK
By B. S. H. TYE
Paravox Photoscription
By examining the Audiometer Card and the case history of the patient, Paravox, Inc., is able to produce a hearing-aid that will correct that hearing loss—one that will bring in the tones that ordinarily the patient fails to hear. When the hearing-aid has been made with the correct response curve to meet the hearing requirements of the patient, the performance curve is photographed on special equipment and the photograph is filed away for future reference. This type of fitting is called "Photoscription Service."
We are pleased to announce that our latest model all-transistor Paravox, the "TRANSonic," can now be fitted by photoscription. If you are one of those who is hard to fit, come to the Victoria Hearing-Aid Co. at 326 Yarrow Building, 625 Fort Street, have a Paravox TRANSonic made up to suit your individual requirements, and then try it out for several days before purchase. There is no extra charge for this service. (This is the hearing-aid that on the average case will operate for less than two dollars per year for batteries).

SIU Strike Threat off

McNamara Announces Settlement After Marathon Discussion

MONTREAL (BUP) — The nation's major shipowners and spokesmen for 4,000 seamen agreed on a new contract today and removed the threat of a strike that would have halted 90 per cent of Canada's merchant marine.

Government conciliator Arthur McNamara announced the settlement shortly after marathon week-end talks ended successfully today. He said "peace on the Lakes" was assured for at least another year.

Contract details were not disclosed. But McNamara said they provided for "a new feature, namely a welfare fund, and also the 40-hour-week principle."

The AFL Seafarers' International Union had poised the strike threat against four major shipping companies to enforce demands for an immediate 40-hour week instead of the 56 hours now worked by seamen on 250 deep-sea and Great Lakes freighters.

McNamara said he could not elaborate on the settlement but indicated no immediate 40-hour week was granted.

"This was a compromise settlement," he said. "Both sides receded materially from original stands. Both were very satisfied when they left at 5 a.m."

It also was an eleventh-hour settlement. The SIU had announced that 500 seamen would strike at noon today against 26 vessels operated by Colonial Steamships, Ltd., one of the four companies involved in the months-long dispute.

AGREEMENT between France and West Germany for direct negotiations on outstanding European problems in a major attempt to end disagreement between the two neighbor countries was announced today by French Premier Joseph Laniel, above. Success in such negotiations bewteen Laniel and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer might clear the way for ratification of the European defense community pact and the inclusion of about 500,000 German troops in the Allied armies arrayed against Communist aggression.

said "looked like a North Korean."

Col. Don P. Hall of Kingsville, Texas, commander of the 4th Fighter-Interceptor Wing, said the pilot was "smiling and very happy it was over with."

Hall said the Mig pilot got out of his plane and immediately saluted U.S. Capt. Cipriano F. Guerra.

"The captain was quite surprised," Hall said. "He got out of his Sabre jet and walked over to the Mig-15. A crewman threw sandbags under the wheels.

"The Mig pilot shook hands with all the men.

"The captain pointed toward the gun on the Mig and the Mig pilot turned off the switch. Air police immediately surrounded the plane."

Asked why the pilot brought the Mig, Hall quoted him: "I'm happy to leave Communism."

"It is believed he knew of the reward," Hall said.

The pilot's first words were reported to be "O. K." His only other word in English was "no."

TURNS OVER PISTOL

The pilot was armed, but he turned over his loaded pistol to Guerra.

Hall said the Red pilot is about 25 years old and an officer.

Hall said the plane may be taken to the United States for testing, but indicated this had not been decided.

The Mig is not the first to fall into Western hands — two others were landed in Denmark by bolting Polish pilots — but it is the first ever taken in Korea and the first the West can keep for a thorough testing.

Gaglardi Says Coast Road Due 'Any Time'

Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi paid a flying visit Saturday to the west coast towns of Tofino and Ucluelet to discuss construction of an Alberni-Tofino road.

Mr. Gaglardi, accompanied by chief engineer Neil McCallum, talked with local boosters of the road and surveyed a large section of the route.

"We may build this piece at any time," he is reported to have told the citizens.

But Premier W. A. C. Bennett said two weeks ago the federal government must pay 50 per cent of the cost.

He said B.C. favors construction of the highway if Ottawa shares the cost.

Thus the situation appears stalemated until the senior government makes a move.

Federal officials have refused to co-operate in the project on the grounds the road isn't of sufficient importance to the Dominion at this time.

The provincial government doesn't plan any discussion of the road at the current session.

Speedier Call For Elections Is Forecast

British Columbia governments in future will need only about 35 to 40 days to call an election because of amendments planned to the Elections' Act at this session.

Premier Bennett said Friday in the Legislature the existing 63-day waiting period required by law between the day an election writ is issued and voting day will be shortened. He did not go into details.

But it is understood the 63-day period will be cut about 25 days to bring it in line with other provinces.

The 63 days are required under the act to enable preparation of the voters' list, and several other election requirements.

It has been reported the government also will introduce an amendment slashing the three-week waiting period, allowed by absentee votes to be returned to home ridings.

This is the regulation which caused the long delay in getting results under the alternative voting system. Second counts could not start until all absentee ballots were returned.

The change, however, won't make much difference if the alternative voting system is abolished as indicated.

This is because the absentee vote makes very little difference in results under the single choice "X" voting system to which B.C. is expected to return.

Polio Claims 149 Lives In the West

Winnipeg, Calgary Hardest Hit

WINNIPEG (CP)—Polio has taken 149 lives in the four western provinces this year and the daily number of cases reported in two epidemic areas last week still continued at a high level, a Canadian Press survey showed Sunday.

Total number of cases was 3,416, with Winnipeg and Calgary hardest hit. Winnipeg has had 645 of Manitoba's 1,696 cases, while Calgary and district has accounted for 242 of Alberta's 644 cases. Fifty-seven have died in Manitoba; 41 in Alberta.

In Saskatchewan, there have been 678 cases and 37 deaths. British Columbia has reported 398 cases and 12 deaths.

On the brighter side, however, medical authorities in Winnipeg said there is "a definite downward trend" in the city's epidemic area, and the last bans on attendance of Alberta children at schools, theatres and swimming pools have been lifted.

All provinces, except British Columbia, were involved in delayed school openings. Both Manitoba and Alberta set back their openings to Sept. 14 from the original Sept. 1 date. Regina schools were delayed one week, although most other Sasketchewan schools opened on schedule, Sept. 1 and 2.

Reds Offer Return Of Jap War Criminals

TOKYO (UP)—Moscow was reported to be wooing Tokyo today with an offer to return 2,458 Japanese "war criminals" still in Soviet custody.

Japanese newspapers printed a dispatch including a message from Moscow to the Japanese Red Cross.

"The Soviet Red Cross is ready to co-operate on repatriation of Japanese war criminals," the message said. "Start direct negotiations immediately with a definite proposal."

The Japanese government does not know how many "war criminals" are being held, but Moscow newspapers fixed the numbers at 2,458.

Eight German Industry Chiefs To Be Tried for Production Lag

BERLIN (UP) — Communist East Germany's Red rulers had grim news for East German workers today: harder work, more production and, in many industries, less pay.

To back up the demands of East Germany's Communist boss, Walter Ulbricht, for a speed-up, the Reds placed on trial eight top officials of the East German hard coal industry on charges of letting coal production flop.

The "more work and less pay" program demanded by Ulbricht is identical with the tough labor program which sparked the bloody June 17 anti-Communist riots and revolt which swept the entire Soviet zone.

Ulbricht, in a speech made Sunday to the German Communist party central committee and made public today, indicated the Red regime is through coddling workers who were given "soft" treatment for three months to quell their revolt.

Ulbricht singled out the coal industry in particular for criticism of lax production. He said it has fallen 2,700,000 tons behind schedule.

In announcing the "show trial" of the eight officials of the industry, the official Communist new agency ADN described them as "the largest vermin group" in East German industry.

The agency accused them of carrying out espionage; passing production secrets and results of research to U.S. agents and sabotaging production.

The trial was regarded a grim warning to other Communist directors of East German industry to obey Ulbricht's demands for greater production.

Canadian Farmers' Cash Income Shows Drop of $8.2 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—Cash income received by Canadian farmers during the first half of 1953 showed a drop of $8,200,000 compared with the same period in 1952, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The bureau said cash income during the six months totalled $1,173,700,000 as against $1,181,900,000 last year. This year's figure also was $64,100,000 below the comparable total for 1951.

The cash income figure includes earnings from the sale of all farm products and from grain adjustment and participation payments on previous years' crops. The figure does not include income received by farmers in Newfoundland.

Supplementary payments to western farmers under the Prairie Farm assistance act amounted to $1,100,000 during the six months, compared with $2,400,000 in 1952 and $9,300,000 in 1951.

The main gains in cash receipts were recorded for wheat, dairy products, eggs and interim payments for western wheat and barley. The offsetting declines were largely accounted for by oats, potatoes, tobacco and hogs.

A large farm carry-over of the 1952 wheat crop into the spring of 1953 provided marketings during the period almost equal to those of the same six months a year ago. However, a better quality crop in 1952 than in 1951 increased cash returns to $243,700,000 this year compared with $231,100,000 in 1952.

Cash income was down in all provinces except Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan, with Quebec and Prince Edward Island showing the largest decreases. Income was up 3 per cent in Nova Scotia and more than 14 per cent in Saskatchewan.

The Tourist in Canada

FOREIGN TOURIST TRAVEL IN Canada is an export business, like lumber or wheat. The expenditures of tourists produce what the economists call invisible exports, providing us with foreign currencies, mainly American. But when Canadians travel in other countries, and spend Canadian money there, they are buying, for exchange purposes, foreign imports. Up to last year the balance of this trade was heavily in our favor — foreigners spent more in Canada than Canadians spent in their countries. In 1952, however, according to latest official figures, we had a deficit of $37 millions in our tourist trade with the United States.

In that year Americans made 26,000,000 visits to Canada and spent $257,000,000 here. Canadians made 21,000,000 visits to the United States and spent $294,000,000.

These are astounding figures. That Canadians, with a population of little more than 14,000,000, could spend more on travel across the frontier than the Americans with a population 10 times as large is almost unbelievable. Yet such is the record of the federal government's bureau of statistics.

Canadians obviously have been on a touring and spending spree in the United States.

There are several reasons for this traffic, the chief being that Canadians are highly prosperous, can take holidays and pay high prices for them.

Secondly, since American prices for most manufactured goods are lower than those in Canada—a result mainly of our tariff—Canadians load up with all the American gadgets they can afford and bring home without paying duty. There can be no doubt that a large part of our total tourist expenditures across the line are made up of such purchases.

Thirdly, it would appear that that Canada is not doing enough to attract American visitors by advertising and by providing the kind of accommodation, food, drink and amusement that our neighbors desire.

The proper way to balance these international accounts is not to restrict Canadian travel abroad but to encourage American travel here—in other words, to press the sale of our invisible exports. Clearly this will require more and better salesmanship in the form of advertising, for at present a single tourist state probably spends more money for this purpose than the whole Canadian nation. But there is no use bringing Americans here unless we can satisfy them with our roads, resorts, hotels and eating places.

Our tourist industry has much to learn about modern accommodation, not only from the Americans but from the Europeans. Travelers' tastes are changing, they demand a higher standard of service and the Americans will get what they want from their money here or travel in their own country. At the same time every effort should be made to encourage Canadians to see the unexcelled scenery, parks and playgrounds of Canada, spending their money here.

If our Canadian industries complain that Canadians purchase everything possible in the United States the solution is to make Canadian prices competitive with American—a solution which will increasingly apply not only to tourism but to all our exporting industries.

It will be a year before we know how the 1953 tourist business turned out, whether we had a deficit, as in 1952, or a surplus as in former years. But whatever the final figures may be, we shall have to re-consider one of our important industries which, well managed, can earn us large amounts of precious American dollars.

Monopoly in Liquor

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNment indicates that it will attempt to abolish the system of monopoly long existing in the liquor industry of British Columbia. It is to be hoped the government will carry through that intention, as urged by the Stevens commission.

The present policy, inaugurated between the wars, confines the brewing and distilling of spirituous liquors to a few fortunate companies. Whenever a new company is formed to brew beer, for example, it is simply refused a brewing license. A company or individual can produce any other kind of goods and compete with similar products, in price and quality. But beer is sacred.

Having thus eliminated any possibility of new competition, the brewing companies divide the market up among themselves. There is no real competition in price. And as the Stevens commission observed, the brewing companies are deep in the beer parlor business as producers and retailers.

How the government proposes to break this system, which the Stevens commission vigorously condemned, no doubt will be revealed when the Liquor Act is re-opened in the legislature a few days hence. The problem is not easy, under a system of government liquor control by which the government fixes the price of all liquor. But there is no reason why one liquor company should not be allowed to reduce its price and increase its sales, if it can, and certainly no reason why the government should refuse to license any new company which wishes to produce liquor.

Probably no one except the liquor interests desire any increase in the total sale of liquor, which is far too large now, but only the liquor interests can favor the present monopolistic arrangements. They are a black mark on the record of all previous governments. The public will hope that the present government can remove it.

Loss to Canada

TRIBUTES OF PRIME MINISTER St. Laurent and other leaders in Canada's public life bear ample testimony to the esteem in which the late Gordon Graydon was held by all who knew him. The chief foreign affairs authority for the Progressive Conservative party and staunch lieutenant of the Leader of the Opposition had proved his abilities over years of service in parliament.

His was a popularity which extended beyond party, a personality which claimed friends even among political opponents.

His contribution to Canada in the field of foreign affairs has been widely recognized. At no time did he allow party politics to influence his attitude in such discussions. Probably more than any other member of parliment, Mr. Graydon was responsible for the preservation of bi-partisan policy on vital international affairs.

His death is a serious loss to the opposition and to Canada. His career is one which no doubt will influence future Progressive Conservative action in matters concerning this country and the world at large.

The Undisguisable Man

THE LARGE CROWDS THAT wished Sir Winston Churchill God-speed at London and welcomed him at Nice attested the impossibility of this great figure achieving anonymity for even a short holiday. Whether disguising himself by not smoking a cigar, or employing a pseudonym "Mr. Hyde," the British leader has little chance of dodging the acclaim that must follow him everywhere like the trailing smoke of a preferred cheroot.

Not that the jaunty "Mr. Hyde" could have been very serious about his little strategem. His plump figure and famous smile, even when not beaming from behind the two-fingered "V" sign, must surely be known throughout the world.

History no doubt will find Sir Winston equally difficult to hide. Few men have exerted such an influence on their country's course over such an extended time, few have led their nation back from the brink of military disaster so successfully as did the wartime Churchill, virtually no man of this era has so competently combined the all-round abilities of the Elizabethan Man as has this modern master of a dozen varied careers.

His place in the written record is secure. And long after that record, many generations hence, has passed from print to legend, the Churchill story will live on, embellished and idealized almost certainly, but even more enduring for having become a part of the nation's folklore.

Too Many Playing by Ear

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

WHILE SPEAKING on the drug traffic and speaking excellent sense, a very practical reformer recently dragged up the old story about "our" forcing opium on China. This, of course, is a reference to the so-called Opium War, a name which is about as descriptive as calling the First Great War the Serajevo War . . . in 1914 we were not killing Germans in order to force the murder of Austrian princes on them. You might as well call the French Revolution the Marseillaise War, suggesting it was fought to enable fishermen in Marseille to sing as loud as they liked.

Brock

BRIEFLY, the facts are these. The Chinese had grown and smoked opium for many hundreds of years. Portuguese traders, however, found southern China quite as ready to buy it as to grow their own. This enabled Chinese traders to barter rather than to keep exporting silver. When the Manchus passed a formal law against opium in 1796, Chinese officials (from the Viceroy down) also found opium imports useful as a means of extorting bribes. Manchu laws were merely a joke in the south, but ideal for the twin pleasures of extortion and of treating foreign devils with rough contempt.

JUST BEFORE the "law," the East India Company muscled in on the Portuguese trade and imported small parcels of opium. In 1834 the company's exclusive rights to British trade with China ended, and British (and, by this time, American) independent traders included opium in their barter. Some, however, were paid in cash, and this drain on silver alarmed Lin, the Manchu commissioner to Canton. All the traders were subjected, as usual, to the most incredible indignities at Chinese hands. I mean traders in all commodities, not just in opium. Why they felt it worthwhile to humiliate themselves in search of business is something not very puzzling, in certain types, but contempt for them needn't be exclusively Chinese.

THE CHINESE, however, did not reserve their technique of humiliation for traders who would accept insults with a cash order. For example, it seemed quite proper to the commissioner, Lin, to write personally to the young Queen Victoria as one more barbarian. Nor did Lin's lack of diplomacy confine itself to a reigning monarch. He managed, through genuine patriotism, to stir up one incident after another, and even the modest traders began to get sick of being killed. One day Lin destroyed 20,000 chests of opium in the care of a Captain Elliott, British trade superintendent at Canton.

ELLIOTT then put an embargo on all trade with the Chinese, who retaliated with a boycott which was hardly necessary after trade was stopped by the embargo. Chinese customers and sellers rioted over not being able to do business . . . business of all sorts, not just opium. Lin urged the rioters to attack the English, and they did . Whereupon two British ships opened fire, and the war was on.

The main issue at stake was equality of status. Up till then, China regarded both foreign powers and foreign individuals as very low animals unworthy of treaties, justice, or any sort of consideration. (It also thought foreigners unable to enforce demands.) On the surface, the treaty ending the war acknowledged that foreigners should have an equal status in official intercourse. It wasn't a war about opium.

LORD PALMERSON and others did point out, wisely, that the only way to keep racketeers and vice out of the opium trade was to legalize it. They also said that if the Chinese were sincere about enforcing their "law" (which they were not), there were various ways of setting about it, none of which included killing Englishmen who weren't, even selling opium at all. In the treaty itself, however, opium wasn't even mentioned.

It was mentioned after another war 20 years later, a war which China forced on France and Britain. Among other things, as a very minor point at issue, the importation of opium was legalized. Later on, with the aid of European reformers, the dying Manchu empire and the new Chinese republic each tried to put down opium smoking, together with both the importation and the growing of opium.

AS A RESULT, the use of opium derivatives, such as heroin and cocaine and morphia, became common, in place of the far less dangerous smoking. Seventy-five years ago, most doctors agreed that only 10 per cent of the smokers were hurting themselves at all, which is more than you could say for drinkers at home. But the crusaders, both inside China and abroad, drove the drugs underground and changed the form of the drugs.

To blame the modern dope traffic on the traders of Canton and Macao of 150 years ago, traders in a country already well-steeped in the growing use of opium for hundreds of years, is to simplify matters a great deal more than I have simplified history here!

All the same, we gave modern China a chance to bear a grudge for ever after. If the grudge was mainly imaginary, its results are none the less real. Chinese history books make Irish ones sound lovesick.

SEPT. 21, 1893 — Capt. Gosse of the Ss. Maude, returning from Alberni reported gold strikes there that would "prove the richest in the country—from which a man could beat $100 a day with a hammer."

As Our Readers See It

BORROWING

Let's get the facts straight!

Your corresepondent E. H. Baker endeavors to show that the Socred government did not borrow for school capital costs.

The facts are that previous governments paid 50 per cent of capital costs in cash to school administrations. Borrowing the whole 100 per cent means that the Socred government has borrowed $3,500,000 or 50 per cent of the $7,000,000. This $3,500,000 is just about the amount paid off the B.C. debt other than the use of sinking funds designed for debt retirement by the previous coalition government.

Statements at election time were made or implied that the Socred government in about eight months had "saved" $33,000,000 for debt retirement, which statement was of course untrue.

School board borrowing (with government guarantee) costs approximately ¼ of 1 per cent more per annum in interest than when the B.C. government borrows directly.

COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM

To argue about Communism and Socialism is just wasting time, paper and ink. As I read, Mr. Abe Lincoln, Mr. T. C. Matheson and company have not very much knowledge of Communism. According to the writings of Bakovnine, Proudhon, Karl Marx, James Guillaume, published in Paris about 1870, concerning the First International Association of Workers (1870), the pure Communists are the anarchists, the enemies of the state, any kind of state ("an" means without archy — authority). Therefore so-called Russian Communism is not at all Communism, Russia being U.S.S.R. (Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, a Socialist state).

Once more I refer to above writings. In 1873 in London K. Marx asked and got the exclusion of the pure Communists from the Congress of the Association International of Workers. Actually in some islands of the South Pacific Ocean there are small numbers of people living as Communists. They use no money, no religion, no army, no police, no property, and of course no politicians. Everything there belongs to the community.

In my opinion, all isms are just dangerous Utopias.

SPEAKING FOR THE P.I.G.

I am glad that someone is again taking up cudgels on behalf of the P.I.G. (public in general) getting access to more beaches. We, the P.I.G. only have access to Weirs, Taylor, Wittys, Albert Head Lagoon, Esquimalt Lagoon, Beacon Hill Park, Ross Bay, Foul Bay, McNeill Bay, Oak Bay, Willows, Little Cordova Bay, Cordova Bay, Island View Beach and a dozen other smaller beaches.

Of course, we, the P.I.G., are getting these beaches pretty badly messed up with broken bottles, picnic refuse and burnt logs and we need access to some of the nice little coves that the selfish P.P.O's (private property owners) are keeping to themselves.

Why should a P.P.O. keep the P.I.G. away from a little beach that he has bought? We, the P.I.G. mind our own business: we have a bonfire and wiener roast on the beach and never go into the P.P.O's garden unless he has ripe apples that we need. We have a lovely sing-song with accordion accompaniment in the moonlight and always leave before 3 in the morning with a lot of happy horn-blowing, shouting and door slamming, and the tide usually washes some of the refuse away.

I know of several such nice little places but am keeping their locations to myself or all the other P.I.G. would be going there and spoiling them for us.

A. LEGGE-PULLAR.

SO WHAT?

Mr. C. M. Cadwallader, by his letter in the Times of Sept. 14, warns us about certain conditions, as he frequently does, and rightly so. He closely watches provincial and national matters, and is to be commended for his observations on them, for he has insight and prophetic talent.

But his observations and remarks leave one in the air. He does not tell us what to do about the conditions he mentions. He states the problem without giving the solution nor calling for action. For instance, he tells us about the plan of the World Association of Parliamentarians for world government. Well, so what? What shall we do about it?

Why not draw up a plan of action, Mr. Cadwallader, on the subjects you bring up in the press?

Surely we can't expect people to be satisfied with explanations only of the Bible and of other matters. A leader not only knows how a job should be done, but shows how it should be done. It is easy enough to "pass the buck" by saying it is up to our politicians and statesmen to settle our problems. But if our correspondent would like to see action taken on the subjects he brings to our notice, then I suggest he should tell us what to do.

ALERT.

LIKES CLAUDE

Candidatures for the mayoralty of Victoria are now appearing, and it is decidedly repugnant to note that some of the aspirants are making their early appeal by directing detrimental statements and inferences towards the present incumbent.

Too little notice is taken during term in office of the accomplishments achieved by those at the City Hall. The splendid accord reached and cemented between the mayor and city manager reveals a co-operative and working flexibility that commands our respect and admiration.

There has been a readiness and eagerness at the City Hall to hear both sides of every controversial issue that has reached the press. The objective and impersonal attitude of our present mayor toward the good of Victoria has deserved our approbation and loyalty. He has kept his pledges and Victoria is of greater stature by reason of this alone.

Opinions on Amalgamation

SAYS ISSUE CLOUDED

The object of the meeting sponsored by the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association was to have Mr. F. L. Shaw present all the known facts of what eventual amalgamation will mean to the Greater Victoria area and not necessarily Victoria and Esquimalt alone.

Mr. Shaw honestly set forth the results of his study and observations, over the period of years.

After hearing Mr. Shaw there is little doubt that he possesses a tremendous amount of knowledge on the subject.

It was unfortunate that the issue was clouded by Reeve A. C. Wurtele speaking as a "private citizen" yet waving a sheaf of papers containing misleading comparisons, gathered in his capacity as reeve.

Mr. Wurtele appeared more like a candidate running for re-election as reeve rather than the head of a municipality honoring his fellow ratepayers with his presence at a supposedly "fact-finding" meeting as advertised.

As in all final decisions of this nature the people will decide the outcome by ballot. However, until some public-spirited body conducts an exhaustive outside survey, or the provincial legislature initiates one, as was the case in Ontario, Windsor and Toronto, such a move will be no closer to amalgamation, which everyone knows will eventually come despite the road-block.

REEVE WURTELE'S STAND

May I correct an impression which appears to have been created at the meeting addressed by Mr. F. L. Shaw in Esquimalt last week.

Most definitely it was not my intention to speak at cross purposes to Mr. Shaw. I am a member with him of the community committee on amalgamation which Mr. Aubury Kent heads and with Mr. Shaw I am certainly in favor of expert study of the question of unifying services for all of Greater Victoria. My point at the meeting was chiefly to impress that fact on the audience.

To illustrate the need for such study I quoted certain figures and comparisons between costs in Victoria and in Esquimalt for certain services. And I also noted that I was dealing with expenditure only. Revenue totals, as I pointed out, would be material factors in showing the profit or loss to be derived from amalgamation.

It was not my intention to torpedo amalgamation discussion. Nothing was further from my thought. But I said then, and I maintain now, that action can only be taken when more information is provided. It would be folly for a group of individuals to press for unification or partial unification without knowing what that unification entailed. They cannot know until adequate surveys are made.

May I also take this opportunity to thank Mr. Shaw for his very lucid explanation of the general question on which he spoke. In the confusion following the meeting I regret no such thanks were expressed.

At Summer's End

New York Times

SUMMER may attempt to extend the glory of its short reign with a few more warm and sunny days, but there can be no denying that the King is dead.

The proof of summer's demise will be provided this morning, when some 915,000 of its loyal subjects in the city lay down their arms — slingshots and canoe paddles—and capitulate. They take up the yoke of captivity again and silently, some perhaps even sullenly, trudge off to school.

Theirs was a hopeless cause, one that has been lost by youthful gladiators since the seventh century BC in the first known elementary schools of Athens. The young Athenians, however, did not have to cross swords with the three R's, for Greek training placed special emphasis upon the proper development of the body and instruction in the fine arts.

It was not until the fifth century BC that the intellectual aspects of education began to be emphasized, but whatever the curricula, school is still just school.

Not that all children dislike school completely. In the waning weeks of summer their enjoyments become diluted by repetition; swimming by this time is commonplace and fishing no longer stirs the spirit.

Thoughts infiltrate the vacationer's mind that perhaps school isn't so bad after all; old friendships are renewed there, games can be played during recess and you don't have to wonder in the morning. "What will I do today?"

The advantages of school take on a special appeal during the rainy days near summer's end, when the hours drag under the weight of inactivity, and there is no one more aware of the advantages than the mother of a school-age youngster.

TRY TO LEARN

I think that if you want to enjoy yourself in the country, apart from just taking exercise or breaking records on bicycles, you must try to learn as much as you can about farms, forestry, beasts, birds, butterflies and so on. Obviously you gain ten times as much if you know even a little about what to look for.

IRISH HERITAGE

The Irish people, for the most part, have always been farmers and workers on the land; they live in scattered communities and they've always had to make their own amusements. Of course, that generally means meeting together to tell stories, to dance and to sing. And so it is that we have in Ireland literally hundreds of songs and dance tunes that have been handed down to us.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Bobby-Sox Ballot

SOME years ago a mundane UBC professor talked to the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association about the young people of the province. He was trying to allay CMA concern over the apparent leftist inclinations of a considerable body of students at the university.

Stott

Youth, he said, was a time of radicalism. In fact he left the impression that if a boy wasn't radical in his teens, he probably wasn't exercising his brain as he should. But, said the professor, give him time. Experience and the collapse of some youthful ideals as they rubbed against practicalities, had an impressive effect.

To illustrate his point he said some of the most conservative adults he knew had started their articulate lives as youthful radicals.

You think of the professor's remarks—and they seem to draw a reasonable picture—as you consider the move to extend the vote to teen-agers. Somebody's bound to come up with the phrase "bobby-sox ballot" and certain party organizers are going to try to figure ways of exploiting the immaturity of those for whom the franchise is proposed. Youth groups, leagues of young so-and-so's aren't new. And if a big batch of youngsters are going onto the electoral rolls, you can bet your tickets to the Mann Cup finals the smart operators are going to devise ways and means of using them.

WILL IT BE RADICAL?

But you wonder if the UBC professor is right and that the radical factions will draw automatic benefits from the inclusion of voters under 21. They probably will, although Canadian and British Columbia students don't appear to carry the same banner of revolt that students of European countries do.

Then you wonder whether chronological age plays such an important part in the question. When you talk to candidates for the different parties after an election, you'll find they hold pretty divergent opinions on the electorate.

The winner will talk about the informed and intelligent voters. The losers will probably shrug their shoulders, ask "What did you expect?" and walk off murmuring one of the phrases coined by W. L. Mencken.

Age, it seems, doesn't mean too much. How can it when presumably intelligent party leaders, men or women chosen for their apparent abilities, introduce such slogans as "Time for a change" into any election whether the government seeking return has provided good government or not.

JUVENILE ENOUGH

You can count off half a dozen or more arguments raised in almost any political campaign that are juvenile. If the juvenile appeal is made to adults, why not vary it by making an adult appeal to juveniles?

It is one of the strengths and weaknesses of our system that we give the vote to almost everyone, once they have attained a specific age. That's one of the factors that makes the educational job difficult today and lends emphasis to the trend to bring the largest part of the citizenry up a little higher on the academic ladder instead of concentrating on the intellectually elect and letting the less bright stay where they are.

By accident of birth, location and chronological age, the person who is plain stupid achieves the same right to select his government as does the brightest student of political economy. And it isn't being too cynical to suggest a lowering of the voting age won't make much difference.

Now it may be that extension of the franchise to youngsters just out of school may point up the importance of special study of democratic and public affairs in the classroom. That could be highly desirable.

But you can't help thinking that political parties will be essentially practical in their approach to the young people. Wonder what will corral the "bobby-sox" vote?

FROM WASHINGTON

By STEWART ALSOP

Mere Description Not Enough

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and his chief advisers have decided, wisely and courageously, to trust the people with the hard underlying facts of the national situation in the nuclear age. But they have not yet firmly decided what must be done about these facts. As things now stand, this is the basic weakness of "Operation Candor," the President's otherwise admirable plan for a series of candid reports to the nation.

Stewart

In the short time that has passed since the President decided to go ahead with Operation Candor, this weakness has become increasingly apparent. As soon as the President made his decision, a very high-level committee was assigned to the job of doing the crucial spade-work on the President's initial report to the nation, presently scheduled for Oct. 4.

The President's intention to tell the people the hard truth was clear, and therefore the committee has been working on two rather grim basic themes.

The first theme is that it is an illusion to suppose that simple numerical superiority in atomic and hydrogen bombs offers the U.S. any kind of security. This is something which the country needs to understand. For, given the nature of the nuclear weapons, enough is enough; when the Soviets have enough bombs to devastate the United States, they do not need any more bombs to accomplish this purpose.

The second theme also needs to be understood—that, according to the best estimates, the Soviets will have "enough" rather soon.

So far so good. It is well that these facts—for they ARE facts—should be stated on the authority of the President. But at just this point, those who have been working on Operation Candor have found themselves rather in the position of doctors who are prepared to diagnose in detail a potentially fatal disease, but who are unable to offer any sort of convincing remedy.

All current drafts of the President's report to the people show this same weakness, according to those involved in the project. After the two themes described above have been expanded, the report tails off into rather meaningless reassurances — including the promise, inherently contradictory, that the United States will continue to make more and better bombs than the Russians.

As the work has progressed, in short, it has become increasingly clear that candor is not enough. It is not enough to state the facts candidly; it is also necessary to have a firm national policy for dealing with these facts. This in turn imposes the necessity for making a number of basic decisions on high policy before the Operation Candor series begins.

At the very least, for example, it is necessary firmly to decide on the level of national investment in air defense against atomic attack. This in turn makes it necessary to decide on the level of taxation which the administration will ask the country to bear in order to pay for this reinsurance against destruction.

And other decisions also need to be made, if Operation Candor is to serve a really useful purpose—on the whole balance of American strategic planning, for instance, and even on whether or not it is worth making a final attempt to negotiate with the Russians an agreement to control the new weapons.

These are difficult and painful decisions. The difficulty is all the greater, moreover, because the present scheduling of Operation Candor sets a deadline of Oct. 4 for deciding at least the air defense issue—and this is less than two weeks after the President's return to Washington.

But if such decisions are not made beforehand, Operation Candor is likely to degenerate into a kind of meaningless seminar, in which the facts will be obscured and the basic issues fudged.

Toronto Subway Tried Out

TORONTO (CP) — The first train ran on Toronto's new subway Saturday, four years and 12 days from the time construction on the underground system was begun.

However, the two cars of the experimental special took two hours and 17 minutes to make the two-mile trip from the Davisville yards to Bloor Street station. Every yard was an engineering adventure.

Officials estimated it will take only 18 minutes to make the five-mile run from Union Station to Eglinton Avenue when the subway opens next March 30.

Toronto Transporation Commission officials said the subway will begin operating at noon of the first day, March 30.

Rioting at Durban; One Native Killed

DURBAN, South Africa (UP). —Savage African-Indian rioting in Durban's Latin - European quarter Sunday night killed one African and seriously injured two others, police said today.

Armed police had to be sent to break up the street fighting that flared when an African was accidentally killed by an Indain-owned bus. An African mob destroyed the bus and then began looting and sitting fire to shops and homes owned by Indians.

One African rioter was shot dead by police and two were seriously burned while trying to set fire to a shop.

WEATHER FAIR . . . CRIBBAGE PERFECT

There was a brief but illuminating interruption today in the routine series of weather reports . . .

By radio from the weathership St. Catherine's came the story from Station Papa, 900 miles out in the Pacific.

"I was playing against Able Seaman Christian. I held a perfact cribbage hand . . . three fives and the jack of clubs; and the five of clubs turned up."

Signed: Quartermaster McIntyre.

Marlene Resumes College Studies

FONTHILL, Ont., (BUP) — Marlene Stewart, after one last triumph on the links, left today to resume classes at Rollins College in Florida.

The nation's leading lady in golf fired a 40-41 — 81 Sunday to win the Niagara district "champion of champions" tourney. It was her third straight victory in the event and gave her permanent possession of the trophy.

John Paul Jones, the first great hero of the American Navy who died in 1792, was born in Kirkcudbright, Scotland.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

BIDU SAYAO

Sayao Brings Big Talent To Victoria

Bidu Sayao, glamorous Brazilian soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, has starred with Europe's foremost opera companies, including La Scala, Milan, Rome's Royal Opera, the Paris Opera Comique, and in the two greatest Latin-America opera houses, the Teatro Colon, Buenos Aires, and the Teatro Nacional in Rio de Janeiro.

She is to sing at the Royal Victoria in Victoria during this winter's Famous Artists' series of concerts. Mme. Sayao's present tour will take her from coast to coast twice, during which time she will visit 30 of the 48 states. Vancouver and Victoria are the only two Canadian cities that are to hear her this year.

She is celebrated for her appearance in the lyric starring roles, particularly the tragic Voiletta in La Traviata, Manon, Juliet, Mimi and Madame Butterfly; also for Zerlina in Mozart's Don Giovanni and Susanna in the Marriage of Figaro. She is to appear this season on both the Telephone Hour and the Firestone Hour.

Also to be heard this year on the series are the outstanding European pianist, Benno Moiseiwitsch; the impressive negro baritone, William Warfield; Andre Segovia, the virtuoso guitar player, and delightful comique, Anna Russell, who has taken critics everywhere by storm.

Box office for the series is now open at Fletcher's music store. Subscribers are reminded they may avail themselves of advance booking privileges for the Sadler's Wells Ballet which will appear in Vancouver in November.

Dick Waives Any Dowry From Rita

From UP and AP Dispatches

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Crooner Dick Haymes announced today he has signed a pact with actress Rita Hayworth that protects all of her earnings and holdings "for life" from any debts he may incur after their marriage.

Haymes, who plans to marry the red-haired actress after his Nevada divorce, said "I intend to stand on my own two feet and take care of all my own troubles, whether they be money, legal or personal difficulties."

Haymes said the agreement was drawn up by Miss Hayworth's attorney, Bartley Crum, and signed by himself and Rita late Sunday night at the Sands Hotel here.

Crum said the pact states that Miss Hayworth's earnings and properties would be protected for the sole use of herself, her children and her own heirs. Miss Hayworth signed an identical document relinquishing any right to Haymes' assets, he said.

GIBRALTAR BOWS TO CHADWICK

GIBRALTAR (AP) — Florence Chadwick swam the Strait of Gibraltar from Europe to Africa Sunday in five hours and six minutes, breaking all records.

Experts who had expressed doubt that the 33-year-old San Diego, Calif., swimmer could make the difficult eight-mile crossing, immediately dubbed her "the iron woman of Gibraltar."

She beat the previous record held by a man by one hour and 53 minutes. Jorge Sugden of Argentina had made the crossing in six hours and 59 minutes in 1950.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUMMARIES

Still Drift Downward

TORONTO (CP) — Prices continued lower and volume light toward the close of stock market trading today. Base metals managed to regain slightly but others were a little lower.

Western oils showed an increasing number of losses and several moved out of the penny category, led by Home Oil with a 25-cent drop, and Peace River, down 20 cents. Canadian Southern was the only impressive gainer.

Base metals, slightly up, were still led in their drop by United Keno with a 25-cent loss. Most junior losses were small. Labrador led the gainers, still holding its early 15-cent rise.

Uraniums and Bathurst area base metals showed a majority of losses although few were large. Rix, in the uraniums, and Conwest, in the New Brunswick issues, led the losers. Gains were in pennies.

In the golds, all groups continued losses, led by McIntyre in the seniors and Placer Developments, in the holding companies.

Most industrials continued weak with steels hard hit but finances and manufacturers showing a majority of small gains.

Small Gains Held by Quiet N.Y. Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks had a difficult time today in holding to their small gains in a quiet market.

Prices moved about a point either way with gainers slightly more numerous than losers.

Motors were under a certain amount of selling pressure all day.

Railroads were out in front in the advancing phases of trading and steels did fairly well together with aircrafts and some chemicals and radio televisions.

Canadian stocks were higher. McIntyre advanced ½, Distillers Seagram added ⅛ and International Nickel fell ¼. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines and Hiram Walker were unchanged.

Canadian issues on the American stock exchange were lower. Lake Shore, Giant Yellowknife and Royalite Oil slipped ⅛.

London Irregular Due to Rate Change

LONDON (Reuters). — Adjustment to the new bank rate today caused irregularity in the investment section of the stock market.

British government stocks suffered fractional losses.

Germans had to contend with some profit-taking, but other Europeans, particularly Baltic and Balkan issues, were firm, as were Japanese bonds.

Oils were adversely affected by Wall Street's poor week-end tone and the Canadian Eagles both lost fractions.

The industrial market was patchy, though engineerings, textiles, tobaccos and breweries provided some bright spots. Mines were lower.

Closing prices: Babcock & Wilcox 66s 6d, Boots Pure Drug 21s 9d, Canadian Pacific $41¾, Central Mining £1 7/16, Consolidated Goldfields 47s 9d, Courtaulds 45s, Hudson's Bay Co. 83s 1½d, Imperial Chemical 46s 10½d, Imperial Tobacco 57s 10½d, Metal Box 60s 7½d, Mexican Eagle 22s 1½d, Rand Mines 66s 3d.

Bonds—British 2½'s, Consols, £61⅝; British 3½'s, War Loans, £86⅝; British Fundings, 4's, 60-90, £101⅝.

LONDON (AP)—Financial Times daily index of London stocks today was 126.0 (1953 high), up 0.2.

Oils, Mines Dip; Rest Unchanged

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market continued along a steady to lower price path in slow afternoon trading today. Mines and western oils moved lower. Bulk of the rest of the list was either unchanged or ahead slightly. There were few advances.

Papers, miscellaneous industrials, carriers, steels and beverages were lower while senior oils, utilities, banks and senior metals held steady.

Mines and western oils presented a slightly lower tone in light trading. Western Tungsten, New Larder, Anacon, Dominion Asbestos and East Metals fell. In oils, Pacific Petroleum lost 25 cents to $7.25 and Calvan, Pontiac and Okalta also dipped.

Stocks Slip Lower

Prices edged lower in small volume on Vancouver stock exchange this forenoon.

M-H Shareholders Approve Merger With Ferguson

TORONTO (BUP) — Shareholders of Massey-Harris Ltd. today unanimously approved a $16,000,000 merger with the Harry G. Ferguson Co. to become the world's second largest farm implement manufacturers.

The new company is to be called Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd.

Massey-Harris will purchase all the issued shares of the Ferguson companies except for a 30 per cent minority interest in the French subsidiary, and will pay for it by issuing 1,805,055 shares of Massey-Harris capital stock.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices displayed a steady trend in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, aided by advances on United States markets.

Modest commercial demand included purchases in oats for domestic accounts. American buying also showed in connection with inter-market spreading. Export interest in barley followed reports of small quantities being sold to the United Kingdom or the Continent. Hedging sales were light in both grains.

Rye prices here followed the upward trend of American markets throughout most of the session. Hedging sales in flax were absorbed by processors and shippers.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat Friday totaled about 750,000 bushels, with 335,000 to Belgium, 370,000 to India and 25,000 to Colombia. Trade reports said Israel had taken 1,350,000 bushels of Canadian wheat during the week-end.

Prices for top grades of Class 2 and IWA wheat dropped 1⅜ cents, except IWA durums, which had irregular changes

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Prices patterns were thoroughly scrambled in grains on the Board of Trade today.

Some of the September contracts showed flashes of strength, particularly corn and soybeans.

The pattern was reversed in oats. The September contract was lower most of the day, while other months showed slight gains. Wheat fluctuated nervously around previous closing levels.

BUSINESS CAPSULE

By ED McLEAN

Crown Zellerbach Corporation common is far under-valued at present prices, according to a report prepared by Blyth & Co. Inc., now being circulated in Canada by Wood, Gundy & Co. Ltd.

Blyth & Co. Inc. says the actual book value of Crown Zellerbach common last April 30 was $85 per share instead of the $26.22 reported.

The higher figure was obtained by calculating Crown Zellerbach timber reserves at "reasonable present market value," by listing plants and facilities at "replacement value less depreciation," and by showing CZ's investment in Fibreboard Products Inc. at its "real net asset value."

Blyth & Co. says Crown Zellerbach's investment in Fibreboard, which is carried on its balance sheet at $5,186,131, "actually had a net asset value equal on April 30, 1953, to $18,194,080.

"The difference, an excess of $13,007,949, is nowhere reflected" in Crown Zellerbach's financial reports.

WILL COMPLEMENT FORMER COURSES

The "personnel management" course in Victoria College Evening Division's 1953 program has been designed to enhance and complement the highly successful courses on the same topic given in previous years.

"This is a new course, under different instructors," says Prof. Robert T. D. Wallace, Evening Division director. "Both those who were in the other courses and those who have not been able to attend other lectures in this field will find much of value in the course now being offered. In fact, anyone working in the field of human relations will find the course invaluable."

Prof. Wallace emphasizes applicants should register in advance of the first lecture on Thursday evening, Sept. 24, 8 to 9.30 o'clock.

The "Problems of Personnel Management" course is sponsored by Vancouver Island Chapel of Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association. The instructors will be Miss Meryl Campbell, B. A., personnel assistant, B.C. Civil Service Commission; Hugh A. Littleton, M. A., personnel officer, B.C. Liquor Control Board; Robert E. S. Chambers, assistant paymaster, Yarrows Ltd.

There's no mystery about it . . .

Buying a bond is something like buying a hat, a pound of nails, a can of peas or a motor car. There's no mystery about it . . . it is really just a simple business transaction.

When you come to any of our offices to buy a particular bond we usually sell it "from stock" . . . if we haven't got it, we do our best to get it from some one who is willing to sell. There is no fee or commission on this type of business . . . the difference between the price we have paid for the bond and the price you pay us is our profit . . . just like most other merchants.

As investment dealers we have a department that specializes in buying and selling bonds . . . we call it the bond trading department. Our traders maintain direct telephone and teletype contact with our own offices as well as with other investment dealers across the country. In varying degree other dealers maintain similar departments. It is this close and constant "keeping in touch" with those who want to buy and those who want to sell that makes for fair and effective bond trading.

Apart from the mechanics of buying and selling, many people are interested in what determines the level of bond prices. Basically, it is just a matter of supply and demand . . . but there are elements of value which have a bearing. For instance . . . quality, coupon rate, term of investment and the general level of interest rates. The elements of value become translated into price through the activities of the investment industry's bond traders.

Our bond trading department is pretty active. Its activities reach into all the principal markets in which Canadian securities are dealt. If you want to buy or sell, the chances are we can do business with you immediately. If what you have or what you want is out of the "active" class, our traders will do the very best they can to help you. Whether you are buying or selling . . . or just want to know what your bonds are worth, the services of our bond trading department are available to you . . . either personally or by mail, through any of our offices.

MINTO CUP FINAL AGAIN POSTPONED

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ontario Lacrosse Association granted a second postponement of the fourth game of the Minto Cup finals today to the New Westminster Salmonacs, whose entire team was stricken with food poisoning after Friday's third game.

The game, originally scheduled for Saturday and then for tonight, will be played Tuesday night at Mimico Bowl. The rival Long Branch Monarchs agreed to the delay.

New Westminster officials said 20 players still were on liquid diets and nursing aching stomachs and hadn't been able to get back in condition.

Salmonacs lead the series two games to one.

Cougars Open Training Camp

Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League are in action again.

The hockey season got its unofficial send-off Sunday at Seattle as the Cougars shook down under coach Billy Reay with 15 players on hand.

Training sessions will be held at Seattle through the week, the club breaking camp Friday for an exhibition game with Seattle at Nanaimo Saturday night, following which the Cougars check in at Memorial Arena.

Stan Maxwell was a late arrival at camp and was expected to don skates today. Forward Pentti Lund, purchased by the Cougars during the off season, arrived this morning.

Among the missing are forward Bob Fryday and defenseman Stan Long. Fryday has apparently refused to report, declining to accept his transportation while Long is reported in Montreal for medical examination of his injured leg.

Long, it will be recalled, suffered a near fatal injury in Saskatoon last year when he was hospitalized by a stick wound in his leg as a result of a collision with Chuck McCullough. It is considered doubtful if he will return although Cougar officials have heard nothing definite from the Montreal club.

Those on hand for the initial workout were goalie Ralph Almas, defensemen Ross Lowe, Sam Lavitt, Ernie Roche, Fiori Goegan and Tony Schneider; forwards Colin Kilburn, Sam Bettio, Gordie Cowan, Andy Hebenton, Eddie Dorohoy, Reg Abbott, Gene Achtymichuk and Bill Sinnett. Norm Jones of the Navy team of the Commercial Hockey League will act as spare goalkeeper.

KILBURN SLIMMED

All players are reported in good shape, Kilburn being 14 pounds under his playing weight of last year at 172 pounds, Bettio is slightly overweight.

First home appearance of the club will be Sept. 29 against New York Rangers. Seattle will play an exhibition game here Oct. 2 with the home league opener scheduled Oct. 9 against New Westminster Royals.

ESQUIMALT WINS CITY BOXLA TITLE

Esquimalt scored two goals in the second period of overtime to defeat Oak Bay 5-3, and capture the city junior lacrosse championship at Stevenson Park Sunday.

Victory for Esquimalt gave the club the best-of-five series three games to two and the championship cup donated by the Victoria Shamrocks.

Tied, 3-3, at the end of regulation time neither club was able to score until Esquimalt's Al Davies beat Fred Wooster for the winning goal with two minutes remaining in the second overtime session. John Makowski added an insurance marker in the dieing seconds of the contest.

Dave Edgar, Ken Barnes and Bill Brandson were other Oak Bay marksmen while Joe Dobbie, Ed Longpre and Ed Kowalyk tallied for Esquimalt.

Wright Nets Pair in Scots' Win

Rookie Wright scored two goals as Canadian Scottish defeated Victoria West 4-2 in an exhibition soccer game Saturday.

Wright's second marker broke a 2-2 tie in the first half, giving the eventual winners a 3-2 edge at the interval. Kurt Lamper netted the cliniching goal in the second half.

Gordie Hobson scored the Scots' first goal on a penalty. Eugene Thorne tallied both of Wests' goals. Wests lost a good chance to take the lead when Ralph Thorne missed a penalty with the score tied at 2-2.

Pro Golfers Best Amateurs

SPOKANE (AP)—The professionals came through in the afternoon rounds Sunday to better the amateurs 8½ to 6½ in the closing day of the Hudson Cup Golf Tournament.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver fired a two-under-par 34 at veteran Harry Given in the afternoon out-nine, and followed up with birdies on the 10th and 11th to outlast the Seattle golfer 2 and 1.

Basketball Meeting

All teams entering for competition in the Victoria and District Basketball Association this season are urged to have delegates in attendance at a general meeting at St. Louis College on Tuesday night at 8.

Closing date for entries is Tuesday.

Foul Bay Defeated In B.C. Boxla Final

Foul Bay are two-time losers in the provincial senior B lacrosse field.

The Vancouver Island champions Saturday night dropped their second straight game in their final series with Kelowna Bruins and for the second successive season finished as runner-up for the B.C. title.

Kelowna, who won the opening game of the best-of-three series Friday night, 23-11, defeated the Victoria club, 14-8, Saturday.

Last year Foul Bay lost to Vernon in the provincial series.

For Kelowna it was their second B.C. title in three years. The Bruins took possession of the Pat Hartney Memorial Cup.

Scoring four goals in the space of two minutes in the last period, the Bruins offset a threatened Foul Bay rally to win going away.

Scores follow:

Kelowna—Bruce Brydon 3, Reg Martin 2, Don Gilla 2, Dave Ritchie 2, Stu Robertson 2, Cal Smillie 1, Ernie Rampone 1, John Ritchie 1. Total—14.

Foul Bay—Jack Milburn 2, Jack Reid 1, Art Green 1, Frank Gower 1, George Rerick 1, John Bamford 1, Gordy Bamford 1. Total—8.

Doing Fine, Thanks, Very Fine

You probably couldn't blame Al Gill if he never wants to leave hospital when he is in such company as nurse Mrs. R. Burck. But the popular Shamrock rookie is already champing at the bit and wishing he could be with his mates when they take on Peterborough Trailermen tonight in the fourth game of the Mann Cup lacrosse finals. Gill was taken to hospital following Friday night's riotous third game of the series when he was struck by a stick and received a fractured skull, concussion and shock. He is well on the road to recovery. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

Milwaukee Braves Have NL Attendance Record

Attention, American League club owners!

When you convene next Sunday to discuss the St. Louis Browns' proposed transfer, it might be well to adopt the following slogan:

"Remember the Braves!"

The Braves, newly shifted from Boston to Milwaukee, in their first major league baseball season in half a century established a National League attendance record when 1,826,397 cash customers came out to root their beloved darkhorse club into second place.

Although Sunday's games had no bearing on the final standing, a capacity crowd of 36,011—one person for every seat in the stadium — watched the Braves split a doubleheader with Cincinnati's Redlegs. Rookie Joey Ray, making his first major league start, shut out the Redlegs 3-0 in an abbreviated seven-inning nightcap after Cincinnati had won the opener 5-3.

The doubleheader, which concluded the club's home games for the year, enabled the Braves to shatter the old league attendance mark of 1,807,526 set by the pennant-winning Brooklyn Dodgers of 1947. The only second-place club to draw more than Braves were the 1950 Detroit Tigers of the American League, who drew 1,951,474. Briggs Stadium seats 52,954 to 36,011 for Milwaukee.

It might be well for the American League club owners to remember that practically this same Braves team drew 281,278 in Boston last year, an attendance just about duplicated by the '53 Browns in St. Louis.

City Golf Buttons Change Hands

The men's city senior golf buttons are on the move again.

Bill Court and Jim Robertson returned the coveted lapel decorations to Colwood Golf Club Sunday when they defeated Joe Pryke and Jack Clark, of Gorge Vale, 1 up, at Uplands Golf Club.

Pryke and Clark won the buttons from Colwood's Bill McColl and Vic Painter last Sunday.

Winners best-ball was 68 while the losers was 69.

Rangers Edge Quakers Again

SASKATOON (CP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League Saturday night scored their second straight victory over Saskatoon Quakers, defeating the Western Hockey League team 4-3.

Wally Hergesheimer, Max Bentley, Eddie Kullman and Nick Michoski scored for New York. Saskatoon goals were scored by Mid Houghton, Ray Manson and Aggie Kukulowicz.

Albions Deserving Of City Cricket Title

By TONY BRISTOWE

The Victoria and District Cricket Association's championship for this season is at an end, with Albions clear winners by an eight-point margin.

This success was well deserved, for they were clearly the best side. That they were only defeated once was chiefly due to their strong batting: Gledden, Mainwaring, Hendra, Don Wilkinson and Stanley made a formidable combination, with Gledden and Mainwaring outstandingly consistent. Hendra, Parry and Ted Oakman bore the brunt of the bowling.

Oak Bay, who were second, might have run Albions closer had they at all times been able to field their full side. As it was, Odgers and Lennox were away for a good part of the season, while Sparks played only a few games.

Alcos ended third and had the misfortune to be on the wrong end of several close finishes. Twamley, Day and Moss worked hard as all-rounders, and Jagger and Teasdale bowled well on occasion, as did the two Wilkinsons, Ray and Geoff.

Incogs fell away badly after a good start as many of their players were dispersed for the summer. Jim Sherratt and Goddard bowled well throughout, while Mackenzie and Seale stood out as batsmen.

Cowichan disappointed. The batting, headed by Walton, Frederick, Dyson, Heppenstall and latterly Lonsdale, looked good; but somehow they did not as a side quite come off.

Five C's were weak and despite the best efforts of Richards, George Payne, McKeachie and Charlie Pugh could only win four games.

FINAL STANDINGS

Albions beat Incogs by 3 wickets. Incogs 50 (Hendra 7 for 23); Albions 53 for 7 wickets.

Oak Bay beat Alcos by 12 runs. Oak Bay 104 (Colquhoun 55); Alcos 94 (Lennox 5 for 27).

Five C's beat Cowichan by 39 runs. Five C's 103 (Richards 43); Cowichan 74 (Richards 6 for 17).

Rocks Get Morelli, Petes Short Pair

CLA May Act To Prevent Rough Play

By BILL WALKER

An unusual quiet that bespoke of further repercussions from Friday night's third game of the Canadian lacrosse championships hung over the boxla front today as Peterborough Trailermen and Victoria Shamrocks awaited tonight's fourth game.

On both the Peterborough and Canadian Lacrosse Association fronts "nobody was saying nuthin'."

However behind the scenes it is believed that all was not as serene as on the surface.

Coach Bob Thorpe of the Trailermen, who was out of town over the week end and thus unavailable for comment, was expected to meet with CLA officials to discuss rule clarifications arising out of Friday's game.

One of Thorpe's objections to the officiating was the fact that centre Curly Mason was called several times for vilolation of the face-off rule while he, Thorpe, who professes to draw the same way as Mason, was not called for any violation.

The CLA executive was also scheduled to meet sometime today although the nature of their business was not disclosed.

Conjecture would seem to indicate that certain aspects of Friday's game would be aired with the possibility that the referees will be instructed to avoid a repetition of the stick swinging duel engaged in by both teams in the Shamrock's 8-7 triumph.

CONFIDENT, BUT WARY

Relaxing in their hotel Sunday night, the Petes appeared confident of winning tonight's game, although they admitted they weren't selling the Rocks lightly.

TWO PLAYERS SHORT

Don Ashbee will not be playing tonight nor will coach Thorpe.

Ashbee has left for Cleveland Barons hockey training camp while Thorpe is under a one-game suspension by the CLA for his actions in refusing to heed a penalty called against him by referee Sid Greenwood.

Derry Davies and Ken Croft are expected to replace the two regulars.

TO PLAY ALL-STAR CLUB

Peterborough president announced Sunday that the Trailermen had tentatively scheduled an exhibition game against an all-star Intercity League club in Vancouver in aid of the British Empire Games fund. No further details were available.

Cooper Adds to Point Lead

Dave Cooper failed to come up with a main event victory on Saturday night's combined big-car-stock car auto racing meet at Shearings Speedway, but he gained in aggregate point totals in both divisions.

The "flying plumber" led the field home in four other events and placed second in two to give him a substantial lead in both sections.

He came in first in the big car helmet dash and first heat, before being edged by Corky Thomas in the main. He also copped the stock car helmet dash and fourth heat but failed in his bid to overtake Dick Varley for main event honors.

As a result of a slippery track mishaps occurred frequently, but luckily nobody was seriously injured.

NEAR ACCIDENT

George Haslam came out of the No. 2 turn with too much speed and hit the rail, tearing off the wheel and continued past the grandstand before slowing the car down and crashing into the fence a second time.

Results follow:

BIG CARS

Helmet dash—1, Dave Cooper; 2, Ed Kostenuk; 3, Bob Simpson.
First heat—1, Cooper; 2, Simpson; 3, Ross Clements.
Second heat—1, Corky Thomas; 2, Simpson (only two cars finished).
Third heat—1, Clements; 2, Thomas; 3, Simpson.
Main event—1, Thomas; 2, Cooper; 3, Simpson.

STOCK CARS

Helmet dash—1, Cooper; 2, Mike Newton; 3, Dick Varley.
First heat—1, Bill Nelson; 2, Varley; 3, Jack Rumley.
Second heat—1, Bob Mawle; 2, Ray Pottinger; 3, Newton.
Third heat—1, Dick Willoughby; 2, Bruce Passmore; 3, Gerry Sylvester.
Fourth heat—1, Cooper; 2, Ken Nelson; 3, Carmen Pascoe.
Main event—1, Varley; 2, Cooper; 3, Pascoe.

Dickinson, Wilkes to Officiate

By DENNY BOYD

Bill Dickinson and Spud Morelli, not usually associated with the Victoria Shamrocks, will be front and centre tonight when the Rocks meet Peterborough Trailermen in the fourth game of the best-of-seven Mann Cup lacrosse series.

Dickinson, one of the Intercity Lacrosse League's top referees, will handle tonight's game with Bill Wilkes, replacing Sid Greenwod and Gordie Folka, who called Friday's game.

Peterborough was in arms following Friday's game and stated that they would not finish the series if Folka refereed tonight.

However, Canadian Lacrosse Association Jim McLeod states that the switch in officials for tonight's game in no way indicates that the CLA has been intimidated by the Peterborough ultimatum. "It was decided Thursday night that Dickinson and Wilkes would be back for tonight's game," said McLeod this morning.

MORELLI TO PLAY

Morelli, hawk-nosed scoring star of the Nanaimo Native Sons, has been picked up by the Shamrocks to replace injured Al Gill for the series, joining mainlanders Jack Byford and Lew Landess.

A hard-rock checker, speedy ball-hawk and dangerous scorer, Morelli will be inserted in the second forward line with Arnie Ferguson and Jackie Northup. Near the top in the league scoring during the seacon, Morelli scored seven goals against Shamrocks in the five-game semi-final series.

"He does the kind of checking we need in this series," said Shamrock coach Red McMillan today as he disclosed Morelli's appointment.

With a victory tonight, the Rocks can even the series at two victories each, the Rocks having scored their first series win Friday night.

200 Youngsters Attend First Soccer Clinic

Close to 200 youngsters registered for the B.C. Football Commission's soccer classes over the week-end and officials hope to double that number before the week is over.

Tommy Restell, class supervisor, said today that classes would be conducted at various schools during the week and he expects a big increase in registrations.

Classes will be conducted for two more weeks, after which it is hoped to form a little soccer league.

Anyone interested in helping form such a league is asked to attend a meeting Tuesday night at 7.30 at the Health Building, 1947 Cook Street.

Als Trounce Riders, End Three-Year Hex

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Alouettes Sunday shattered a three-year jinx Ottawa has held over them in Big Four football play, defeating the Rough Riders 37-21 before 16,902 delirious hometown fans.

It was the first Montreal victory over Ottawa since Oct. 9, 1950, and the first win for the Montrealers over Ottawa since Clem Crowe has been Ottawa's coach. Wally Masters was at the Rough Riders' helm when Montreal last defeated them in a game here.

The whole story was shown in the statistics with Montreal gaining 170 yards rushing to Ottawa's 97, and 302 yards in passing to the Rough Riders' 209. Ottawa tried 33 passes and completed 12 while Sam Etcheverry was successful with 19 out of 29 heaves.

Chuck Hunsinger was the big gun of the game with four touchdowns for the Als.

Rough Riders led 9-5 at the end of the first quarter and by the same score at the half. The Alouettes came to life in the third quarter, racking up 18 points without a reply from Ottawa.

Tiger Cats Trim Argos

TORONTO (CP)—Pass interceptions and an all-round heads-up type of play were the big weapons Saturday as Hamilton Tiger-Cats took a 12-9 Big Four Football Union decision over Toronto Argonauts. Tiger-Cats made their weapons pay off each time for their triumph, second of the season over the Double Blues.

They snared two long forwards by Argonaut quarter Don Panciera to convert them into Tiger-Cat scores and rubbed Argonaut noses in the dirt with a last-minute piece of strategy that put out the fire on a desperate Toronto victory bid. It was a hard-fought game, battled mainly in the air.

Gene Littler Captures U.S. Amateur Crown

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gene Alec Littler, 23, a taciturn navy airman from La Jolla, Calif., who never had a golf lesson in his life, won the 53rd national amateur championship Saturday by sinking an 18-foot birdie putt on the final green for a 1-up victory over Dale Morey of Indianapolis.

Apparently hopelessly beaten after his game had collapsed on the first nine holes of the afternoon round, Morey rallied for a finish that almost overtook the highly favored youngster from the west coast.

Three down with nine to go, Morey, a 32-year-old sandpaper salesman, picked up on the 28th where Littler twice banged into the rough for a six and then he canned birdie putts of five and 10 feet on the 16th and 17th greens to send the grim duel to its final hole.

ESKS TAKE GRID LEAD; BOMBERS EDGE CALGARY

Bootless Stamps Miss Bob

Calgary Stampeders lost by a whisker in the Western Interprovincial Football Union Saturday night because they couldn't cash in on converts.

So it's only natural that the second-guessing in the Calgary camp should centre around a player no longer with the team.

Stampeders were edged 16-15 at Winnipeg by the Blue Bombers, who had walked with defeat for three games, while at Regina a two-touchdown performance by Billy Vessels powered Edmonton Eskimos to a 12-6 win over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Two blocked converts by tackle Buddy Tinsley—halting a fourth-quarter drive by the Stampeders— gave Bombers the win which consolidated their hold on the WIFU's second place.

Stan Kalusnick failed to make good on any of Stampeders three after-touchdown kicks and also missed an attempted field goal.

This brings up the speculation on whether the game would have gone to Calgary if the team hadn't waved goodbye earlier in the week to Bob Shaw.

Shaw was a master of the convert. He was the western conference's leading convert kicker last season, kicking 38 of them in setting a Canadian football scoring record of 110 points.

Going from speculation to statistics, Eskimos hold a four-point lead over the runner-up Bombers after the week-end games, while, four points below Bombers, Stampeders and Roughriders are tied for third position.

The 21-year-old former Oklahoma University star named Vessels dashed 86 yards for his first touchdown in the second quarter after bursting through a hole on the left side of the line.

He skirted the right end from four yards out for his other major in the last quarter and both majors were converted by Wilbur Snyder, formerly of the University of Idaho.

Winnipeg was never behind in its home game before 16,658 fans.

Quarterback Jack Jacobs tossed touchdown passes to end Bud Grant, last year with Philadelphia Eagles, and to half Tom Casey, a former American now classed as a non-import.

Flying wing Buddy Korchak converted both majors and added a field goal and a single.

John Henry Johnson, fullback from St. Mary's College and Arizona State, and Sugarfoot Anderson and halfback Pete Thodos went over for Calgary's unconverted touchdowns.

CITY HOCKEY PLAYERS BID FOR SENIOR BERTHS

Two local athletes are attempting to climb further up the hockey ladder.

Art Green and Jack Millburn, who were in the interior over the week-end with the Foul Bay lacrosse team, did not return to the city but remained in Penticton.

They intend to try out with the Penticton V's of the Mainline Okanagan Hockey League and hope to remain there this winter.

Both played in the Victoria Commercial Hockey League last season.

WHENT GOES TO ROYALS

United Loses While Winning

Victoria United made its first step up the ladder, which leads to the top of the Coast Soccer League a big one at Macdonald Park Saturday, blanking Vancouver St. Andrews, 3-0, but they lost what could have been an even bigger stride.

Coach Wally Milligan dispelled all hopes that the club would obtain the services of Jackie Whent when he stated that Whent had joined forces with New Westminster Royals.

United won the game the hard way. Fielding a youthful speedy club, St. Andrews held a large territorial advantage throughout the contest and likely would have taken the decision but for lack of finish in front of the net.

United opened the scoring on its first rush of the game, centre-forward Whitey Turner beating goalie Bob Newbold to a pass-back and finding the net with a soft shot.

Jack Robbins gave the local squad a 2-0 half-time lead when he blocked an attempted clearance and drilled a beautiful shot past Newbold, catching the top right corner from well out.

Chick Newman, substituting for Turner in the second half, settled any doubt as to the outcome when he blasted a shot past Newbold from point blank range, after St. Andrews' Dave Guthrie had lost control of the ball.

St. Andrews worked the ball up the field well, exceptionally so in the second half, but failed to apply the finish to their plays, a good percentage of shots either going wide or over the bar.

Fullbacks Bill Hope and Joe Robbins stood out for United defensively. Robbins twice saved certain goals by coming in behind goalie Bill McAllister, clearing from the line once when McAllister was sprawled in front of the net after blocking a shot.

Bill McMillan, filling John Pickburn's halfback spot, played good and could give Pickburn a battle for the position when Pickburn returns from vacation.

Schulz Tops Chess Ladder

Frank Schulz has captured the Victoria City Chess Club ladder competition championship. Schulz defeated second-place J. H. Lacey in the final match. A knockout competition will commence this Friday.

Standings, results and draw follow:

1—F. Schulz; 2—J. H. Lacey; 3— W. de Havilland; 4—T. N. Curteis; 5—L. Hall; 6—L. Kellie; 7—F. W. Plant; 8—T. J. Stewart; 9—R. R. Bennett; 10—R. Rigby; 11—A. G. Higgs; 12—G. Jones; 13—W. Hastings; 14—R. H. Snape; 15—H. Parry; 16—J. Lees.

Last week's results follow:

R. H. Snape defeated H. Parry; A. G. Higgs defeated G. Jones; W. de Havilland defeated T. N. Curteis; F. W. Plant defeated T. J. Stewart; H. Parry defeated J. Lees; R. R. Bennett defeated R. Rigby; W. Hastines defeated R. H. Snape; L. Hall defeated L. Kellie; F. Schulz defeated J. H. Lacey.

Friday's draw:

Hall vs. Kellie; Plant vs. Stewart; de Havilland vs. Curteis. First named plays White. A draw puts Black into second round.

Rayner, Evans To Saskatoon?

SASKATOON (CP)—There seems a good chance that starry Jack Evans, king-pin of the Saskatoon Quakers' defense corps in the Western Hockey League last year, will again be playing with the Hub City entry as will Chuck Rayner, long a kingpin with New York Rangers.

At any rate when the New York Rangers embark on their western tour Monday night, the former Lethbridge junior will remain with the Quakers in training at the arena.

High-flying Aggie Kukulewicz, whose play in the exhibition game Saturday night for the Quakers had everybody talking about him, is also remaining at the Saskatoon camp along with such other Ranger chattels as Vic Howe, Ed Kassian, Chuck Henderson, Dale Sweeny, Chuck Holdaway and Les Lillie.

On tour with the Rangers will be goalkeeper Johnny Bower and Lorne Worsley; defenseman Leo Reise, Hy Buller, Harry Howell, Allan Stanley, Bob Crystal, Ivan Irwin and Mid Houghton, and forwards Don Raleigh, Nick Mickoski, Jack Stoddard, Paul Ronty, Wally Hergesheimer, Ron Murphy, Max Bentley, Billy Dea, Eddie Kullman, Dean Prentice, Aldo Guidolin, Ike Hildebrand, Camille Henry and Andy Bathgate.

Boucher said he would decide between goal keepers Bower and Worsley while at the west coast and the one that fails to make the New York team would be left with the WHL Vancouver Canucks. In Saskatoon Rayner and Bev Bentley will handle the Quakers' goal job with Rayner the regular.

Hildebrand, still the property of Cleveland Barons of the American League, appears to stand a good chance of moving up to the NHL with Rangers.

GRID SEASON OPENS

Tars Shade Goblins; Vampires Get Lumps

The cover was prematurely lifted off the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League over the week-end and the contents proved promising for the coming season, which officially opens Saturday.

In Victoria Saturday, a better-conditioned Navy team ground out a 10-6 victory over Oak Bay Goblins at Naden field in an exhibition game while Ray Mitchell's Vampires dropped a 56-6 decision to Vancouver intermediate Cubs in Vancouver Sunday.

The sharp looking Navy club, even in its first appearance of the year, was a superior club to the one that finished in the cellar last season.

The sailors exhibited a bruisingly effective ground game while Goblins picked up most of their yardage through the air or around the ends, being unable to crack the centre of the Navy line.

The sailors took a 4-0 lead in the second quarter as Oak Bay's safety man fumbled a punt and was rouged and Doug Brown drop-kicked a field goal on the last play of the half.

Goblins came back with the first major of the game, scatback George Wilson grabbing a punt and streaking 40 yards down the side-line to paydirt early in the fourth quarter. Ken Higgs converted.

The sailors, taking advantage of a tiring Oak Bay line, went 60 yards for a touchdown without losing the ball. They kept strictly to short plunges, Jack Grant and Dave Burke doing most of the damage. Burke cracked over from five yards out for the major and Brown converted.

In Vancouver Sunday the Vampires put up a gritty showing against the Cubs, who are the number one farm team of the professional B.C. Lions.

Vampires were unable to get far in the face of the Vancouver defensive line, which averaged 215 pounds and was composed of hardened veterans.

Quarterback Pete Ash passed to Vic Gallop for the only Vampire touchdown of the game in the second half.

Slo-Mo Takes President's Race Classic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slo-Mo-Shun V, the West Coast's prize speedboat, won the President's Cup regatta Sunday but Detroit's Such Crust III stole a lot of glory from her by winning the last of three heats, turning in a record-breaking performance along the way.

Chuck Thompson, piloting Jack Schafer's Such Crust III, proved to the 37,000 fans who lined the banks of the Potomac that the Seattle streak is not an invincible boat.

Thompson swept into the lead right at the start of the final heat and Lou Fageol, Slo-Mo's driver, challenged time and again, but couldn't make it. Such Crust III was 300 yards ahead when the front runners flashed past the finish line.

Slo-Mo won the first heat of the regatta Saturday when Miss Great Lakes II, who was duelling with her through the first 12 miles of the 15-mile event, developed mechanical trouble.

ROSEWALL, HOAD WIN

Aussies Douse U.S. Net Hopes

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad, Australia's teenage tennis stars, today were causing United States tennis adherents to wonder if the U.S. would ever regain world tennis supremacy.

The speculation began after the Australian duo defeated the United States' top tennis stars Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert in the men's singles and doubles championships at the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament Sunday.

Rosewall performed the big job of the day when he defeated Wimbledon champion Vic Seixes 6-4, 1-6, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4 to win the men's singles title. He had defeated U.S. national champion Tony Trabert to enter the final round.

Seixas attempted to beat the youthful Australian star by staying on the baseline, contrary to his usual strategy. It proved his downfall as Rosewall's uncanny backhand placements passed him continually.

More than 4,000 fans watched the match which many feel was a preview of the Davis Cup matches later in December in Australia when Seixas and Rosewall may meet again.

In the doubles play, Hoad joined with Rosewall to beat Seixas and Trabert in straight sets 17-15, 6-3, 6-2.

In women's play, Doris Hart, of Coral Gables, Fla., defeated Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4 to win the women's singles championship.

Miss Fry and Miss Hart then combined to beat Louise Brough, of Los Angeles, and Australia's Thelma Long in the women's doubles 6-4, 7-5. Miss Fry Saturday defeated U.S. champion Maureen Connolly.

Two Drivers Killed in Race Crash

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Two drivers were killed and several others injured before the first lap was completed in Saturday's 220-mile national championship NASCAR sportsman's modified stock car race at the Raleigh speedway.

As the 60-car field was nearing the final turn, a 15-car pile-up occurred and five cars caught fire, two exploding.

Coroner Marshall W. Bennett said Bill Blevins of Fayetteville, N.C., burned to death in his car. Jesse Midkiff of Burlington, N.C., was dead on arrival at hospital.

The track was cleared an hour after the accident and the race restarted with 47 cars.

Gonzales Captures Pro Tennis Crown

QUEBEC (CP)—Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles unleashed power aplenty Sunday night to defeat Bobby Riggs of Miama, 6-0, 6-4, 6-4, and win the Canadian professional tennis championship.

Gonzales teamed up with Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., to win the doubles with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Riggs and Joe Fishback of Miami.

'Birds Beaten

MONTREAL (CP)—The 1953 edition of McGill Redmen ran roughshod over the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds Saturday, downing the Evergreen Conference club 22-4 in the initial "Paraplegic Bowl" game.

SUSPENDS OPERATIONS

SYDNEY, N.S., (BUP)—The Sydney Millionaires of the Maritime Major Hockey League suspended operations for a year today because of financial troubles.

Ivan Temple Elected To B.C. Hockey Body

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna was elected president of the BCAHA at their annual convention here this week-end. He succeds Dr. Giovando of Nanaimo.

Ed Benson of Trail was elected first vice-president and Jack Ryan, Nanaimo, second vice-president.

The constitution was amended to allow for the election of six, instead of five district representatives on the executive body. Elected were: E. J. Zack, Kimberley; C. W. McLean, Trail; Dr. R. A. Hughes, Kamloops; Frank Becker, Vernon; A. H. Jefferd, Vancouver, and Ivan Temple, Victoria. L. G. Atwell was returned as secretary-treasurer.

A motion was approved to curb the mass transfer of players each season that is contributing to pyramiding salaries. The motion, that protects clubs from being raided, limits to two the number of players that may be drafted from any one club. A draft fee of $250 will also be charged for each draft. This will apply to teams in the BCAHA.

A B.C. champion in the junior division will be declared this season to compete in Memorial Cup competition if financially possible and the team is considered strong enough. Play-offs will be held between the winners of the three B.C. districts—Okanagan, Kootenay and Pacific Coast.

Soccer Royals Seek North American Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian soccer champions will meet their U.S. counterparts on Canada's Thanksgiving Day when Chicago Falcons play New Westminster Royals.

The sudden-death game for the North American title will be held in Callister Park October 12 as a benefit to swell the British Empire Games coffers.

"It will be the first time the soccer champions of Canada and the United States have met," said Jock Henry, who arranged the game on behalf of the Football Association of Canada and with the co-operation of the U.S. Soccer Football Association.

It was reported that the tough Chicago line-lp will include three or four former Czech internationals.

Meanwhile, the Royals opened their 1953 Coast Soccer League season at Vancouver Saturday and could only manage a 1-1 tie with Vancouver City. Royals led after nine minutes on a goal by Fred van de Perre, their new centre forward, and City, which held a territorial edge most of the way, tied it up through Tommy McHugh with seven minutes remaining.

In the third Coast League contest of the day, two quick goals by Tommy Cooper in the second half gave North Shore United a 3-2 win over Firefighters at Vancouver's Confederation Park. The teams had played to a 1-1 deadlock in the opening half.

Fagan Puts $1 Price Tag on Seals To Help Promote Major Franchise

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Paul I. Fagan, owner of the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League Saturday offered to sell the team to the City of San Francisco for one dollar to promote the possibility of bringing major league baseball to the west coast.

Fagan said he had made the proposition to a committee of the city's board of supervisors with the understanding that the city would build a stadium with proper facilities for baseball and football.

Fagan said he was making the offer because a move to bring major league baseball to San Francisco must be made at this time.

Fagan said financial losses of the past three years and the fact that the directors of the Pacific Coast League have not presented any plan of operation in the future that Fagan considers workable give no "sensible reason for the San Francisco baseball club to operate under the same conditions in 1954."

He added:

"We could play the game like the other members of the Pacific Coast League are doing and prolong the time of decision, but if this was done our city would in all probability lose out on what they are trying to accomplish owing to the fact that if something is not done promptly, Baltimore will be successful in getting a club in either the National or American League.

"If this happens it will be a long time before another opportunity comes to hand as, in my opinion, two clubs are needed to make any moves practical."

The owner said he was offering the franchise and players to the trustees of the city for a dollar "to make it as easy as possible for the supervisors to get a major league club."

He said he would lease Seals Stadium to the major league club for "a couple of years" while a new stadium is being built. He said that 5,000 temporary seats could be put in the outfield of the stadium to give it a capacity of 27,000 until a new stadium "with a minimum of 40,000 seats" was completed.

Fagan said he had advised the city that any franchise transfer must have the approval of the PCL.

He concluded:

"This proposal of mine would relieve any major league club taking this territory from the payment of any indemnity to the San Francisco baseball club or me."

Rocky Confident He'll Erase Blot

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Marciano, at the peak of his career, expects to erase the only disputed fight in his record Thursday night at the Polo Grounds against determined Roland La Starza.

"I'd like to clear that up," said the heavyweight champion after Sunday's sizzling workout. "It's the only fight there ever was any argument about. I always figured I'd fight him again.

"He's a strong guy, one of the strongest I ever fought—at least as strong as Joe Walcott. But he doesn't hit like Walcott.

"I think I've improved an awful lot since the first fight with LaStarza. After all, that was 3½ years ago."

Marciano won a split decision from LaStarza March 24, 1950.

The big crowd that jammed the quonset-hut hanger at the airport for his last heavy drill agreed that the rock from Brockton, Mass. was much improved over the crude, awkward slugger of even a year ago.

The champ looked sharp as he went four rounds.

"That was the best I ever saw him in training," said manager Al Weill.

REMEMBERS LAST FIGHT

Marciano talked freely of his last fight with LaStarza.

"It was very close," he said.

"But I thought I won it. I don't think I threw even one combination that night. When I knocked him down I didn't hit him a full shot. It was a long right that caught him against the ropes.

"I guess he's the best boxer I ever fought. But I don't remember that he ever hurt me."

Flyweight Champ Suffers Knockout

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Leo Espinosa of the Philippines, ranked only seventh best of the flyweights, scored an impressive technical knockout upset Saturday night over Japan's world champion Yoshio Shirai in the seventh round of a 10-round non-title bout.

The defeat may force Shirai to postpone his title fight with Terry Allen of London, scheduled for Oct. 9 in Tokyo.

The TKO came at the end of the seventh round by order of the ring doctor because of profuse bleeding from Shirai's left eyebrow. It had been cut in the first round.

Baltimore Orioles and Montreal Royals need only one win each today to move into the final for the International Baseball League's Governors Cup.

Rochester Red Wings unloaded 12 hits against Howie Fox and three Baltimore relievers at Baltimore, Saturday, to whip the Orioles 9-2 and prolong their life in the best-of-seven semi-final series. Orioles lead 3-1 in games.

At Buffalo Sunday the Royals nipped the Bisons 2-1 to go ahead 3-1 in the series.

Wings Whip Flyers

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP) — Detroit Red Wings, champions of the National Hockey League, showed real firing power in their first outing Saturday, trimming Edmonton Flyers 7-0 in an exhibition game.

It marked the first of several exhibitions between the Wings and their No. 1 farm club.

John Wilson, Ted Lindsay, Gord Howe, Marty Pavelich, Alex Delveccio, Earl Reibel and Bill Dineen all fired pucks past Glen Hall, Edmonton netminder, in the free-scoring display.

Most Valuable Player Battle Brewing Again

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Another rhubarb is shaping up nicely over the forthcoming election of the National League's most valuable player by a committee of 24 baseball writers.

You may recall that harsh words were written a year ago when the delegates from the western half of the league were accused by their eastern lodge brothers of having ganged up to elect Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs instead of Robin Roberts, the Phillies 28-game winner. The easterners still claim that one western blockhead didn't even name Roberts among his 10 descending choices.

Now the eastern oracles suspect there's another plot afoot to name Ed Mathews, Milwaukee's sensational young third-baseman, and keep the silverware in the west another year. They are steaming that anyone capable of counting to three knows the only possible choice is Roy Campanella, the broad beamed Brooklyn catcher. Choose your weapons.

BALTIMORE HOPES RISE FOR AL CLUB

CHICAGO (AP)—The American League will meet in New York Sept. 27 "to reach an understanding" regarding proposed transfer of St. Louis Browns to another city, league president Will Harridge announced Saturday.

A special league committee already has recommended the Browns be allowed to switch their franchise and Baltimore's hopes of landing the club brightened when Roy Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, reported previously to be opposed to the move, asserted Saturday he now has "an open mind" on the subject.

Harridge declined comment on the apparent likelihood of Baltimore getting the franchise, but all signs pointed towards a switch to that ctiy.

Happy Hunters Boast Of Antlered Trophies

Salt Spring and Sooke Providing Best Game Bags in New Season

Hardy hunters welcomed in deer season Saturday morning and after a week-end of activity generally agreed that the prospect for a banner season is bright.

A report from the Provincial Game Department stated that hunters were having most success in the Sooke and Salt Spring Island areas, with a fair bag of game being brought back.

An RCMP road-block was set up at Colwood to check on returning hunters. Only one case of a hunter with a loaded firearm in his car was reported by the detachment. No accidents were recorded.

Early morning has been established as the best hunting time, although hunters are meeting with success in the afternoon and early evening periods.

Salt Spring was apparently the best spot, with several boats reportedly arriving at wharves in the Duncan area with two and three carcasses each.

George Garside, an employee of Wilson & Lenfesty Sporting Goods, was out in the Salt Spring area in a party of four and each returned with a deer.

Fellow worker Henry Harris found success in the Sooke area. He was out with a party of three, and each had a kill.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

As usual, I am a little late, but I have at last stumbled upon accounts of a conference held in Toronto earlier this month.

The objective of the conference was to see what relationship exists between the consumption of alcohol and traffic accidents.

Needless to say, the learned gentlemen attending the conference found that drinking and driving mixed very poorly indeed, and many suggestions were made with a view to cutting down on accidents due to impaired driving.

Dr. Henry Newman, of the Stanford University School of Medicine, suggested that a driver who has had a drink or two make sure he is fit to drive by performing this simple (according to Dr. Newman) test:

Stand on one foot with your eyes closed for 15 seconds. If you can do this without performing a dipsy-doodle, you are sober enough to drive, Dr. Newman says.

Well, I am always interested in scientific research, and it seemed only right that I experiment to see if Dr. Newman's theory is correct.

At the time of the experiment, there was nothing stronger to drink in the house than milk, but I figured I could start with milk and then work up slowly.

So I poured a tall glass of same, took a hearty swig, and prepared for the experiment:

Holding the glass in my right hand, I closed my eyes, and lifted my right foot off the floor.

The immediate result was a sort of floating, spinning sensation, and I began to hop, sand-flea style, across the room.

When I opened my eyes, I discovered half the milk spilled on the floor. Elapsed time: four seconds.

Thinking it might be a question of my left foot being somewhat of a rebel, I tried standing on my right foot, with the milk in my left hand.

Results: same; elapsed time: five seconds.

Some improvement, but not enough to convince me I was sober enough to drive.

I am inclined to favor a continuation of scientific research, and will gladly do so if Dr. Newman will help me find out what it is they are putting in milk these days.

Late bulletin: I have just conducted a brief survey throughout the office, to see if my confreres are sober enough to drive.

The net result was, they are all too sober to participate in the experiment.

Cost-of-Living Index Finished After This Month

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bureau of Statistics announced today that the old cost-of-living index will be discontinued early in October.

The index, based on the cost of consumer goods in the 1935-39 period equalling 100, will not be published after cost of living figures for September are issued.

The old cost-of-living index has been replaced by the consumer price index which has been in effect for a year. This index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, gives a more accurate picture of living costs.

Deer Causes Serious Crash On Malahat

Driver Suffers Fractured Back

A driver suffered a fractured spine, and his three passengers, including two children, were casualties Sunday morning when a truck skidded over a steep embankment on the Malahat after colliding with a deer.

The truck plunged 50 feet before its fall was stopped by a tree.

Richard Burdett, 30, Machleary Avenue, Nanaimo, was the driver.

His wife is still in Jubilee Hospital with undetermined head and knee injuries.

Their two-year-old son, Jimmy, has less serious head wounds. He is still in hospital.

A nephew, Barry McVicker, seven, escaped serious hurt and has been released.

The truck struck the deer near the entrance to Hall's Boathouse at 7 a.m., went into a skid, crashed through a guard rail and dropped over the edge of the steep bank.

New Science Strip Starts In Times Next Monday

Victoria Times readers next Monday will be introduced to the newest comic strip characters in the person of Jet Scott, a science adventurer.

Jet Scott

The new strip, which features an authentic background of the most advanced discoveries of present day scientific research, will intrigue readers of all ages. For instance in his first adventure, Jet Scott uses an "electrical brain" to work out the problem of a missing man.

Sheldon Stark, who writes the strip for Jerry Robinson to illustrate, says: "More research has gone into the preparation of the strip than the team of scientists put into the first atom bomb. At this point I think I could build an atomic pile in my basement with some wire fence, a little putty and a jackknife."

The new strip is worth watching for in next Monday's Times.

CCF PLACING NO OBSTACLE IN PGE SALE

Webster Opposed to Private Ownership

CCF Leader Arnold Webster said today it's untrue that his party is opposed to selling the Pacific Great Eastern Railway under all circumstances.

"In the Legislature Friday, Premier Bennett charged that this was our policy. Such an inference is entirely wrong," the Opposition Leader said.

(Premier Bennett had asked Mr. Webster to clarify his position as soon as possible for fear it would harm negotiations).

The CCF leader statement said: "In my speech last Thursday I emphasized that for the first time since the construction of the railway, it is becoming a valuable asset to the province. Accordingly, the government is in a stronger position now than ever to deal with its future expansion.

"In conformity with our belief in public ownership of transportation services, the CCF has always favored the eventual intregation of the PGE with the national system—the CNR."

Mr. Webster added that the CCF is definitely opposed to the transfer of this public utility at this or any time to private capitalists.

"Furthermore, any contemplated sale should be based on a definite agreement that the line will be extended both ways.

NURSING HOME BY-LAW TO GET PROVINCIAL OK

The provincial government is expected to grant Victoria's request for a special act of the Legislature ratifying the transfer of land sale funds for erection of a 104-bed addition to the Victoria Nursing Home.

But government sources look on the request as "an abundance of caution."

A bill will be introduced to the House soon, but it won't go through private bills committee as originally thought. It's expected to be handled through a public bill which is less time-consuming.

Ratepayers approved the transfer in a vote Thursday, but the council wants provincial approval to make sure the move is legal.

Rival Union Attacks Branded 'Red Smear'

United Fishermen's Official Says Results Justify Recent Strikes

By DON INGHAM

The Seafarers' International Union (TLC) fight with the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union is a "Red smear," president Elgin Neish of the Victoria UFAWU local, said today.

"They don't attack you for what you're doing for the industry, but just on a political issue," he said. "It's 'McCarthyism.'"

He said that without the strikes in the industry in 1952 and 1953, fishermen would be fishing for two cents less per pound than canneries offered. He said also that the union has contributed to the fishermen's improved standard of living.

In 1933, he said, fishermen were paid 2½ cents for a pink salmon, and now receive 6½ cents per pound, an increase of about 1,500 per cent.

Comparative prices for sockeyes were 20 cents per fish in 1933, and 22-23 cents per pound today, an increase of about 840 per cent.

"The fact that we are under attack now is adequate proof that we are getting a bigger share of the income of the industry as a whole," he said.

CLAIM DISCOUNTED

Mr. Neish discounted claims of the SIU that it had "taken over" the Quathiaski Cove local of the UFAWU last Friday in part of what it reports is a drive to enlist all B.C. coast fishermen into the ranks of the SIU.

His account of events at Quathiaski Cove is as follows:

"The SIU called a secret meeting of the fishermen, of which six executive members of the local were not informed. There were 20 people at the meeting, and two walked out later, leaving 18.

"On Sunday the UFAWU called a full meeting of the local, which was attended by 70 men. The local re-iterated its allegiance to the UFAWU, and demanded that the officers return the books of the local. Otherwise, legal proceedings would be instituted, members said."

PUPPETS, HE SAYS

(Norman Cunningham, SIU business agent in Vancouver, said the UFAWU had 76 paid-up members in the Quathiaski Cove local, and that his union had signed 74 of them. Officers named by the UFAWU are "puppets," he said.)

Mr. Neish was critical of a Times report Saturday stating George Greenwell, Labor-Progressive party candidate in 1945, was a union officer; that William Rigby was once secretary of the Vancouver UFAWU local, and that he himself was an "active member" of the LPP.

"Mr. Greenwell was nothing but a rank-and-file member of the Victoria local for a very short time," he countered. "Rigby was never secretary of the Vancouver local, and as for my being an active member of the LPP—I don't know where the information came from, and don't see that it's up to me either to confirm it or deny it."

Mulliner Acting Mayor; Harrison Off to Parley

Mayor Claude Harrison left by plane Saturday for Montreal to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

During his absence from the city, Ald. Frank Mulliner, senior member of City Council, will be acting mayor.

U.S. Admen Elect Officers Here

New officers of the Pacific Council, American Association of Advertising Agencies, were named this morning as the annual convention opened in Empress Hotel. Left to right, A. W. Neally, Los Angeles, vice-chairman; Ross H. Ryder, Oakland, chairman; Wayne Leland, Portland, governor, and Trevor Evans, Seattle, governor. Other governors elected were Ford Sibley, San Francisco; C. E. Staudinger, Los Angeles, and Chuck Devine, Spokane. The new secretary-treasurer is Fred H. Fidler, San Francisco.

CUSTOMER CLAIMED OUT OF REACH

Ad Men Missing Mass for Class

Advertising has failed to keep up with changing conditions in North America, Mrs. Jean Rindlaub, vice-president of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, New York, told a luncheon meeting of the Pacific Council, American Association of Advertising Agencies, in the Empress Hotel today.

She said there are no longer two markets—the mass market and the class market—but only one: "the people who are pioneering in a new way of life, and leaving advertising far behind."

Mrs. Lindlaub pointed out there are more working wives and mothers than ever before; one-third of the U.S. female population now hold payroll jobs.

"Today's customer lives in a wider world," she said. "She looks at advertising with eyes that have been around. And there is evidence she has gone away out in front of today's advertising."

Today's customer, she said, has more money to spend. Since 1947, the number of family units with $4,000 to $7,500 to spend has increased by 44 per cent.

"In the world of ideas, our customer is outracing advertising," she said. "The most remarkable thing about the Kinsey report is that at least 20 of America's great home magazines dared to discuss it freely and frankly. There has been no mass protest.

"This new calm, symptomatic perhaps of a new maturity, seems to be the most significant thing about the new customer."

3-D GIMMICK OPENING NEW ERA FOR AD MEN

The newest "gimmick" in the advertising world is 3-D—the development of sight-in-depth which is currently revolutionizing motion picture production.

According to reports to be delivered to the annual convention of the Pacific Council, American Association of Advertising Agencies in Empress Hotel this evening, 3-D is a brand new force soon to be felt through the pages of newspapers and magazines.

Already 3-D ads have been tested, on an experimental basis, in United States publications. The development began last June, when advertising agencies followed the Hollywood example, and prepared motion picture advertising using the new technique.

It quickly spread to slide-and-disc combinations for dealer demonstrations; then to newspapers, magazines, point-of-sale displays, and printed literature.

At tonight's session of the 4-A convention, John Hunt, advertising manager of Sawyers, Inc., Portland, will show and explain examples of current 3-D advertising.

City, Saanich 'Amalgamation' Achieved in Park's Interest

Amalgamation of Victoria and Saanich still may be far away, but a score of their municipal employees gathered Saturday in the name of public service to take first steps in construction of a Gyro-sponsored seaside park, abutting Sinclair Road at Cadboro Bay. Municipal authorities lent heavy machinery, seen above, for the work bee. The four-acre park, will cost an estimated $30,000, will have bathing facilities, wading ponds and games area. The grounds will be landscaped and planted with shrubs. An estimated three-year development scheme is contemplated by Victoria Gyros. (Times Photo by I. Strickland.)

Counsel Pleads for Young Boxer's Life

Insanity Plea Appeal Basis

A plea that Vancouver middleweight boxer Charles Mathews was insane at the time Mrs. Los Angeles Smith, 44, of Vancouver, was murdered in her home last March, was made by counsel H. E. B. Fisher before B.C. Court of Appeal here today.

Mr. Fisher is counsel for the 20-year-old boxer known in ring circles as "Sonny Jones."

The accused was sentenced to hang by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne in Assize Court last June for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Smith.

Mathews was scheduled to hang Sept. 20, but a stay of execution was granted by Mr. Justice Clyne last week, fixing Oct. 27 as the execution day.

Mathews' appeal opened today in Appeal Court, which was fully constituted. Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan presided.

ATTACKED ROOMER

Evidence given at the trial claimed Mathews went to the house of Mrs. Smith at 7.45 a.m. March 4 of this year. Accused is said to have called on Mrs. J. Walberg, living in an upstairs suite, and to have attacked her, tied her up, and beat her over the head with a hammer. She was found later in the afternoon in a semi-conscious condition.

Mathews then went downstairs and is alleged to have killed Mrs. Smith with another hammer. Her battered body also was found that afternoon.

The Crown claimed the accused killed Mrs. Smith because he thought she was interfering with his love affair with a girl named Peggy Brown, whom he wanted to marry. Mrs. Smith is alleged to have been against a marriage.

INSANITY PLEA

Mr. Fisher told the court his main argument for appeal against the murder conviction was on grounds of insanity.

He pointed out Mathews, in a confession to police, remembered hitting Mrs. Smith with his fists, but could not recall anything beyond that.

Two psychiatrists who testified on behalf of the defense at the trial, said they believed the accused was insane when the crime took place, Mr. Fisher said.

Navy Truck Drivers Take Top Prizes In Mainland Roadeo

Three naval transport drivers from HMC Dockyard staff were listed among the winners of a province-wide truck and trailer "roadeo" held in Seaforth Armories, Vancouver, on Saturday.

More than 100 B.C. truck drivers competed in the various events in the process of the elimination.

First prize in the semi-trailer division was won for the second consecutive year by Gordon V. Smith, 3357 Linwood. He will again be asked to compete in a national ATA meet in Toronto in mid-November, where he ranked third last year.

Aldo C. Duz, 1206 Haultain, won third place in the semi-trailer contest and Don Dobbie, 1240 Princess, came in third in the truck section.

The contestants' skill is judged in backing huge freight carriers into limited parking spaces, turning between pylons and negotiating twisting, narrow-lane courses without touching guide-posts.

HOUSE SPEAKERS

Two newcomers to the B.C. Legislature will speak in the Throne Speech debate Tuesday.

They are Alex. Matthew (SC, Vancouver Centre), and Bruce Brown (Lib., Prince Rupert).

Other speaker is Tony Gargrave (CCF, Mackenzie).

Toothbrush Gun, Some Fun Say Cowboy Crazy Kids!

By PENNY SAVER

"Yippee! Ride 'em, cowboy!" you'll have the little gaffer shouting if you buy him a cowboy toothbrush. I don't think you'll mind all that western lingo, though, when you see him dash to the bathroom after every meal to brush his teeth, and I do mean brush! He'll do a thorough job of it, because the toothbrush is in the form of a gun and as he brushes back and forth the trigger clicks. It will fascinate him no end. Keep an eye on dad, though, he might want to try it out when junior's back is turned!

Junior will love the bright colors this plastic "brush-gun" comes in. There is also a plastic holster, if you please, that hangs on the wall as a container! Holster comes in a different color than the brush. Set is only 59 cents, and believe me, it's worth it!.

"Especially for you" is what it says on this card . . . but this is no ordinary gift card, for it's designed to hold a pair of nylons. The folders are scented and may be purchased in a variety of patterns, including red roses, baskets of flowers and falling autumn leaves . . . 15 cents.

A similar card holding a hanky gift sells for the same price. If the occasion is a birthday, there's one printed with "Birthday Greetings" on it, too.

If I remember correctly, I told you, last week, about some tiered half-slips that are made of crispy nylon and make your full skirts look fuller. Only trouble with them was that they came in black only, so if you wanted one for a pastel dress, you were out of luck! Well, you're in luck, this week, 'cause I've spotted some in white and instead of being $9.95 as the black ones were, they are just $3.95. Hmmph! I bought one exactly the same in the States, just a few months ago, and discovered that this paper-stiff nylon remains crisp after washing . . . paid the same price for mine, too.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer and Bridal Party

Wed recently in St. Mary's Church were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Palmer. The bride is the former Stephanie Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Scott. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer. Archdeacon A. E. de L Nunns performed the ceremony. Bridal party, left to right, are Miss Marilyn Palmer, bridesmaid; Miss Megan Scott, maid of honor; bride and groom; Mr. Keith Palmer, best man, and Mr. Michael Hammersley, usher.

A Golden Pendant, Groom's Gift, Worn

A golden pendant, the groom's gift, was the only jewelry worn by Mary Grace Foxall, daughter of Mrs. Foxall, 1874 Townley Street, and the late Mr. C. F. Foxall, when she exchanged wedding vows, Friday evening, with Frank F. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bell, 424 Langford Street, in St. Alban's Church. Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh officiated, and during the signing of the register, Walter Hamilton played organ selections. The church was decorated with gladioli and guest pews were marked with sweet peas and satin ribbon streamers.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, H. K. Kidd, the bride wore a dressmaker model suit of mid-blue wool with black accessories and carried a prayer-book mounted with white gardenias.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Jean Kidd, matron of honor, who wore a royal blue dress, black accessories and gardenia corsage. Ron Shea was best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. A fine lace cloth covered the bridal table, which was centred with a wedding cake flanked by pastel sweet peas and white candles in silver holders. H. K. Kidd proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. Grace Knight, aunt of the bride, came from Burnaby to attend the wedding and Miss Joyce Main attended from Vancouver.

A honeymoon is being spent motoring Up-Island, for which the bride left in a grey topcoat over her wedding ensemble. Mr. and Mrs. Bell will live in Suite 9, 310 Edward Street, Victoria.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Avoid Tight Permanent; Makes You Look Older

Many women write me telling about their permanent wave troubles. I think it will be helpful to you if I call your attention to a few things about permanent waves.

Tight curls have been out of style for a long time. Soft curls or waves have long been the vogue and I myself feel that this is one style which will not change. Tight curls give a harsh, hard appearance. They are especially aging to the older woman.

The important thing is to select your operator with care so that you will not spend your money for a frizzy effect. The expert operator knows what kind of permanent is best for your kind of hair and will find out for certain how long your tresses should be subjected to the heat and lotion in order to achieve the effect you wish.

If you have very soft hair she will probably give you a cold wave. If your hair is coarse she may give you a machine wave, but once relying on her, let her decide. In case she does not plan to give you a "test curl" insist on one because even the best operators can make mistakes.

The failure of a permanent is not always the salon's fault. If you insist on having one when your hair is very dry, without a preceding conditioning period, it may be impossible to give you a successful wave. Your hair may be naturally dry or may have been dried out by continual dying. Sometimes poor health makes it difficult to give a lovely permanent.

Women wish to know how often they should have permanents and how long they have a right to expect them to last. This again depends on the individual, how short she wears her hair and how fast her hair grows out. Persons vary in the speed with which their hair grows, the average being about an inch a month. Of course if you wear your hair short your permanent will not last as long.

However, you can have "pick-up" curls, just a few at the neckline and around the ears, where the hair is shortest. You make a big mistake to ask for a tight permanent which will last a long time, because after all, the object of a permanent is to make you look more attractive.

Be sure that your hair is in condition for a permanent. If it is not, eat more wisely, massage the scalp daily and have some hot oil treatments, before getting your permanent. If your hair is in good condition and you select your operator carefully you need have no fear. These are the two factors which will assure you increased beauty.

If you would like to have my leaflet about hair care, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 52, "Stars in Your Crown," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Evelyn Gladys Bolitho, daughter of Mrs. J. R. Bolitho, 3138 Milgrove Street, and the late Mr. Bolitho became the bride recently, of Floyd Poulton, son of Mrs. F. Poulton and the late Mr. Poulton, 235 Ontario Street, in a ceremony at St. Mark's Church. Canon R. Willis read the service and Mrs. Dorothy Jasper provided traditional organ music.

Given in marriage by her brother, A. Bolitho, the bride wore a gown of white satin with overskirt of nylon net paneled with lace. A fitted jacket featured tiny covered buttons from Peter Pan collar to waistline. Her hem-length veil cascaded from a ruffled headdress of tulle caught with orange blossoms on each side, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. L. Bolitho, sister-in-law of the bride, wore pale blue net over satin with net cape and hair bandeau of pale blue forget-me-nots. A similar gown in yellow was worn by bridesmaid, Miss M. Mottishaw. Flower girl, Miss D. Bolitho, niece of the bride wore pale mauve organdy. Ring bearer was Master G. Bolitho, nephew of the bride.

Harold Poulton, brother of the groom, was best man and ushering guests to pews marked with carnation nosegays were brother of the bride, Leslie Bolitho and Angus Plachner.

Reception was held at Norway House, 1110 Hillside Avenue, which was decorated with pink and white streamers for the occasion. Newlywed couple stood beneath an archway decorated with sweet peas and wedding bells to receive the guests. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table, which was covered with a linen cloth. Wilfred Wicks proposed the toast. Mr. and Mrs. G. Shepherd came from Mission City to attend the wedding.

Mrs. Poulton donned a suit of dusty rose with white accessories and gardenia corsage for her traveling ensemble. The couple will live in Victoria.

Golden Tones of Autumn Set Theme For Metropolitan Church Wedding

Bronze and gold chrysanthemums formed a pretty setting for a popular young Victoria couple when they exchanged wedding vows, Saturday evening in Metropolitan United Church. They were Phyllis Evan Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Patterson, 218 Vancouver Street, and Alan Urquhart MacMillan, 242 Wildwood Avenue, son of Mrs. J. E. Hooker and the late Mr. MacMillan, Vancouver. Dr. F. E. H. James officiated and during the signing of the register, John Dunbar sang Greig's "I Love Thee." Charles Palmer was organist.

The charming bride, gowned in Chantilly lace and nylon net, entered the church on the arm of her father. The gown was fashioned with front tiers of net trimmed with lace. Lace bodice featured lily-point sleeves. A pearl-encrusted bandeau held her filmy veil of illusion net and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. Only jewelry was a pair of gold nugget earrings, gift of the groom.

Mrs. D. White, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of gold taffeta with matching headdress and mitts. Bronze and gold chrysanthemums formed her colonial bouquet.

Another sister of the bride, Miss Marion Patterson, wore powder blue net over taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze and gold chrysanthemums with matching hair bandeau. Best man was Douglas Chipperfield, Vancouver and ushers were Thomas Heslop and Douglas Angus.

A reception was held at the Olde England Inn, which was also decorated in the wedding color theme of bronze and gold. The wedding cake was topped and surrounded with red roses. Sam Francis proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMillan are honeymooning in the interior and United States. For traveling the bride chose a grey worsted suit, red lizard skin purse and black velvet hat. She wore a corsage of gardenias. The couple will live in Vancouver.

Members of Victoria Toastmistress Club plan fall season. They are, left to right, Mrs. R. K. Simpson, Mrs. C. C. Warren and Mrs. H. E. Parkes, president.

Toastmistress Clubs Aid Women in Serving Public

With the increase of women in politics and other phases of public life where meeting the public and speaking authoritatively are factors, has arisen the need for some type of training and preparation to meet the challenge.

Out of this need has developed the toastmistress club movement all across the country. Twice a month, at 5.45 in the evening, some 7,000 women in 300 cities, gather round dinner tables with their particular groups in pursuit of the almost lost art of oratory. They are banded together under the registered name of International Toastmistress Clubs Inc.

Fall season for the Victoria Toastmistress Club is to begin with a membership tea at the home of Mrs. G. Carr, 3185 Weald Road, Thursday at 8 p.m. A sample program is planned for the evening, demonstrating what women can learn to make them more significant in community and public life. Three types of speeches will show the manner of using direct appeal, factual material and humor.

Constructive criticism and evaluation will draw attention to the benefit derived from group interpretations. For new and prospective members it is hoped this will provide a stimulous and an insight into the importance of the toastmistress movement. Anyone interested in attending may phone Mrs. G. Parkes at E 8459.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McConnell, 2514 Graham Street, have as their guests, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dickinson with their two children, from London, Ont.

Betty Speirs Preceded By Choral Procession

The full choir of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, singing "O Perfect Love," led the bridal procession, Saturday evening, when Betty Speirs entered the church on her father's arm to repeat wedding vows with Richard Street Carter. White gladioli and chrysanthemums decked the altar for the ceremony which Rev. J. A. Roberts performed for the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Alexander Speirs, 471 Nelson Street, and the son of Mrs. Gertrude Carter, 2505 Burrard Street, Vancouver, and the late Mr. Philip Carter.

A heavy brocaded satin gown with circular skirt falling softly into a train, fitted bodice, stand-up collar and lily point sleeves was worn by the radiantly lovely bride. A Mary Stuart headdress set with pearls held in place her filmy fingertip veil, edged with lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli, each bloom centred with a red rose. Her only jewelry was the gift of the groom, a gold cross with matching earrings.

Miss Margaret Speirs, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of pink taffeta in strapless mode, with softly rolled cuff and full circular skirt. She wore a short net cape and carried a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums. The bridesmatron, Mrs. Helen Bell, and bridesmaid, Miss Helen Sylvester, cousin of the bride, wore similar gowns in turquoise. Both carried pink chrysanthemums and feathered carnations. Dainty flower girl was Miss Barbara Flury, in a yellow taffeta frock with hoop skirt and basket of fall flowers.

Reception was held at 802 Esquimalt Road, where Mrs. Speirs, wearing a full-length gown of pale blue lace and corsage of pink heather, and Mrs. Carter in a full-length gown of black and white witn red rose corsage received guests. Robert D. Jones, uncle of the bride proposed the toast. Pink and white was the color scheme of the bride's table, which was centred with a three tier wedding cake. Telegrams were received from Korea, California, Ontario, Calgary and Vancouver. Miss Kitty Dixon sang the "Lord's Prayer."

A royal blue wool dress with matching box jacket, navy accessories and white orchid corsage was the bride's choice for traveling on honeymoon to Oregon and California. Mr. and Mrs. Carter will live at 1177 Esquimalt Road.

Chlorodent gives you a clean, fresh mouth!

BRUSH AWAY "MORNING MOUTH"!

A leading dental journal reveals that almost everyone's breath is "pungent" and often disagreeable first thing in the morning.

That's why your morning toothbrushing is so very important. When you use Chlorodent, you stop "morning breath" instantly . . . and for hours afterward.

Chlorodent is unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Limited.

You'll have a cleaner mouth with Chlorodent! Dentists at a university dental school made 395 comparisons of the cleaning action of leading toothpastes—ammoniated, chlorophyll and regular. Chlorodent's patented cleaning ingredient did the best job of all!

You'll have a fresher mouth with Chlorodent! Scientists made nearly a thousand bad-breath tests on men and women. Compared to a non-chlorophyll toothpaste, Chlorodent kept twice as many people free of mouth odours—even four hours after brushing!

No dentifrice gives you better decay protection than Chlorodent—use after meals. You'll love its lively, minty flavour!

Contains water-soluble chlorophyllins

South deserved a better fate in today's hand. He saw through a deceptive play by West and took the best possible measure at every step. Unfortunately for South, however, West was equally alert and the breaks were in West's favor.

West opened the seven of spades, and declarer allowed East to hold the first trick with the jack. He won the spade return in dummy with the ace, naturally enough, and tried a diamond finesse.

West casually played a low diamond, hoping that his king would not be forced out until he had managed to establish his spades.

If South had been careless, he would have switched to clubs, losing a finesse to East. East would then lead his last spade, forcing out declarer's king. West would gain the lead with his king of diamonds in time to set the contract with his long spades.

West avoided this trap by leading a heart to dummy in order to try a second diamond finesse. West had to take his king of diamonds, and this meant the end of his ambition to bring in his long spade suit. His only chance was to return a heart in the hope that his partner would have strong enough hearts to carry on a successful defense.

The heart return killed poor South. He could still have made his contract by cashing all of his high cards and then allowing East to take his hearts, after which East would be forced to lead clubs up to the dummy. But South took the ace of hearts and tried a simple club finesse, hoping that he would get one break.

As it happened, the club finesse lost, and East promptly cashed his two heart tricks. Even though South was set one by his actual line of play, I don't really blame him. I give credit to West for refusing the first diamond finesse. If West had taken this first trick, South would have had no trouble with his game contract.

New Methods Help in Some Hypertension Cases

HIGH blood pressure, or hypertension, is not caused by any single disease. The most important problem is to decide, if possible, what is the particular cause in each individual case and what can be done about it.

In many cases, unfortunately, the origin of the high blood pressure is not known or cannot be traced—this is called essential hypertension.

Even for such kinds of hypertension, recent developments in treatment offer promise for at least some patients. For example, some patients have been given a diet from which not only the sodium contained in salt is removed, but most of the sodium in the other foods.

The low-sodium diet is rather complicated to prepare and is not too tasty, but good results in bringing about a drop in blood pressure have been reported. This treatment certainly will not answer the entire question of hypertension, but at least the use of "low-salt, low-sodium" diets in certain cases is valuable. The so-called rice diet is one of these low-sodium diets.

The use of tissue extracts is another promising line of attack. An operation called sympathectomy, in which certain nerves in the back near the spine are cut, has also been used. After these nerves are severed the blood vessels expand and are able to carry more blood and the blood pressure is lowered.

USED FOR YEARS

This form of treatment has now been in use for selected patients for a good many years and seems to be of real value. It is not suitable for all patients with hypertension.

One form of essential hypertension is known as "malignant" because in a few weeks or months it may progress so rapidly as to cause irreparable damage. In this variety of high blood pressure the most active measures are necessary without the least delay.

Police said they found Mrs. Ethel Mulholland, 50, dead in her bed with her face battered and her neck bruised. They were summoned by one of her drinking companions.

Helicopter Evacuates Bodies of Five Airmen

VANCOUVER (CP)—A helicopter flies in today to evacuate the bodies of five airmen who lost their lives in the crash of a Mitchell bomber last spring.

A three-man rescue crew was dropped at the crash scene Saturday by helicopter and spent the week-end preparing a landing site for the helicopter to carry out the evacuation program.

The 'copter was called into use after a ground party was turned back by low clouds and rugged terrain late last week.

The Mitchell's crew consisted of FO Jack McIntosh, 29, Regina, pilot; PO M. D. Hill, 24, Lindsay, Ont., navigator; PO E. D. Thygesen, 25, LAC. K. G. McGinnes, 26, and AC1 I. M. deWitt, all of Vancouver.

TOKYO AUDIENCE WEEPS

the clothing worn by the actors). It also had a platform on which a character may be raised from beneath the stage, or in reverse, lowered.

The curtain, striped in the traditional green, red-brown and black, was pulled aside, in traditional manner, by someone running rapidly across the stage.

Realm of Complete Unreality

From this point, all semblance to western theatre ceased for me and I entered a realm of complete unreality.

Pulling on and off the curtain is accompanied by the sound of wooden clappers (hyoshige) three inches thick and about a foot long, and used by a sort of assistant who sits on one side of the stage. The peculiar sharp sound also punctuates the beginning, close, or the intervals of a play, and points up the impressive pose in which the actor freezes and becomes statue-like with his eyes wide open at some high point in the dialogue.

This posing is called "mie" and a good Kabuki actor must be very skillful at it. Kichieman is considered to be the best.

Music forms a big part of the Kabuki drama . . . but not as you or I know it.

The first performance of the evening, "Kokoro-Tsukushi Rembo-No-Tamatori" ("The Story of the Gem")—"Imori-Zake"—(sake, or rice wine, mixed with a charred newt) . . . the truth, so help me . . . was of puppet-play origin, so we had the chodo, in which the words are said by a tayi (reciter) and the musical accompaniment twanged by a samison player. A singer and musician completed the group. All dressed in costumes dating from feudal times, but with no make-up or disguise. The reciter had a playbook before him on a small decorative desk and he read in a highly dramatic manner.

On the other side of the stage was the geza, an inconspicuously placed latticed window, behind which were a number of musicians, who also signal for entrance and exit of actors and are responsible for music effects and sounds during the play.

In some plays, especially the lighter variety or where there is a dance, there is a small, visible orchestra, seated to right or left of the stage. They give a sing-song emotional recital with samison accompaniment.

Strangest of all is the kurogo, corresponding to our prompter. There are several of them in the main kabuki plays. They are dressed and completely hooded (face and all) in black to appear as inconspicuous as possible and they slip about the stage like shadows, while the play is going on.

Little Man Who Wasn't There

If an actor forgets his words, the kurogo crawls in behind and prompts him (I saw him every time, but I doubt if the Japanese paid a moment of attention to him).

These men also change props in the middle of a scene, hiding where they can, sometimes behind bits of scenery but more often behind the voluminous costumes of the actors, as they sit or pose on the stage.

Kabuki, everyone out here tells you, is based on singing and dancing, but certainly different from anything the western mind can conceive. It is more like a revue than a drama, in the European sense. A play in which a classical story is enlivened with spectacular scenes.

And believe me they are spectacular! Expensively and lavishlessly produced and with not one cheap note.

This type of play appeals to the masses of the Japanese people. They love it. Yet the life of present-day Japanese is only rarely represented. Mind you, the audience expects Kabuki to be rendered with skill and the Kabuki actor aims at making a strong appeal to the audience by bringing his art to perfection.

So, to appreciate a Kabuki play emphasis must be placed, not so much on the story and the contents, as on the ability of the actors to make the characters live in the classical manner.

I doubt if this appreciation could be attained by a westerner in a night. To me it was like a trip into fantasy-land. Wonderful but startling!

The Kabuki was first created by an actress, Okuni, who lived four centuries ago, and, in its original form, was not a play but a type of prayer dance. Prof. T. Kawatake, present director of Waseda University's celebrated Museum of Drama, went so far through the press recently as to say that Kabuki originated as a burlesque.

"Strip-tease," he declared, "may, with proper guidance, develop into a genuine theatrical art—an art formulated, like Kabuki, among the masses."

Shortly after its origin, it was monopolized by male actors and its present development has been attained through efforts of male actors alone. Even today there are no actresses in a Kabuki play, all parts are taken by male players. Reason given . . . it is an art of bold outlines, and the women of Japan, as a rule small in stature and lacking in dominating features, have not the strong personality . . . therefore the players must be male.

The extravagantly beautiful but out-sized costumes sometimes weigh as much as 50 pounds and the feminine wigs another 25 pounds, so to my mind the more practical reason is that only men could carry that weight for any length of time.

Flower Show Crowd of 600 Too Small

Attendance Lack Worries Official

While over 600 persons attended the two-day fall show of the Victoria Horticultural Society last week, the attendance was not sufficient to make the floral exhibition a financial success, T. Sawyer, vice-president, disclosed today.

"We need more public support and exhibitors to make the fall show pay for itself," said Mr. Sawyer. "We always have had trouble with this exhibition. The interest in flowers seems to be at a low ebb in fall."

The show marked the society's last flower exhibition for this year. Chrysanthemums, dahlias and Michaelmas daisies were the chief flowers exhibited.

Trophy winners were: W. E. Turner, A. R. Nicholson cup for the best amateur floral exhibit; Mrs. E. McCabe, G. A. Robinson cup for the highest aggregate arrangements; Mrs. E. McCabe, H. C. Dalziel cup for large arrangement of autumn flowers and foliage; Miss V. E. Ashdown, Shriner Memorial trophy for best bowl of annuals; A. Miles, Landsberg trophy for collection of vegetables; Mrs. W. Bennett, Victoria Horticultural Society cup for collection of vegetables.

Pentecostal Missions to Extend Work

The missionary work of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada will be expanded considerably, it was decided at Saturday's meeting in Victoria of the plenary general executive of the PAC.

More missionaries and supplies will be sent to the missions operating in Kenya, British East Africa, Argentina, Hong Kong, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia.

Pastor C. B. Smith of the Glad Tidings Tabernacle, Victoria, said at least $30,000 every month was collected by PAC congregations across Canada for missionary work. His own congregation contributed $1,000 regularly each month.

A Sunday morning service at the Glad Tidings Tabernacle was heard over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC. The address was given by Rev. Walter E. McAllister of Toronto, general superintendent of the PAC.

Milk Processing Plant Barred

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Milk Board has turned down the bid of Canada Safeway Ltd. to operate its own milk processing plant in Vancouver.

W. J. Kraft, manager of the company's Vancouver division, said today the decision was "disappointing" and "could have a serious effect" on Safeway's plan to sell milk for 20 cents a quart, two cents below the home-delivered price.

Gulf Islands Service Proposed

HOPE BAY, B.C. (CP)—A proposal to operate a passenger and freight service from Vancouver to Gulf Islands has been made by Coast Ferries, Limited, to delegates of the Gulf Islands Improvement Bureau.

O. H. New, managing director of Coast Ferries, suggested at a meeting at Hope Bay, on North Pender Island, that his company operate a daily passenger and freight service during the summer months, with a thrice-weekly service in the winter.

Johnstone Strait Closure Lifted

VANCOUVER (CP)—Resumption of net-fishing in the Johnstone Straits areas on Tuesday at 6 p.m., following a 13-day closure, was announced today by the Federal Fisheries Department. These areas include Alert Bay, Quathiaski, Comox, Pender Harbor, and mainland waters opposite.

Douks Remanded; Eight More Guilty

VANCOUVER (CP)—In the makeshift court in a Burnaby hall, 37 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, scheduled to be sentenced today for parading in the nude in public, were remanded until Friday. The prisoners include four women.

The remand was ordered when the court was told that prisoners' documents had not arrived from Nelson. Magistrate Graham Ladner had requested the records of the men and women before pronouncing sentence.

The accused were the first of 144 Sons of Freedom members convicted following the opening of the trials last Thursday. They were arrested at the Perry Siding tent village near Nelson following a nude demonstration Sept. 9.

Following the remand today eight more Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were found guilty of parading in the nude, but seven others were acquitted on the charge.

One of the women who was acquitted of the charge protested violently, and tried to disrobe in the court. Royal Canadian Mounted Police restrained her, however.

The eight convicted Freedomites were remanded until Friday for sentencing. Their convictions brought to 37 the total number of members of the religious Russian sect found guilty of disrobing at Perry's Siding, B.C., in a mass parade.

Meanwhile, at Oakalla Prison, Warden Hugh Christie said the Doukhobors have virtually ended their fast. The hunger strike started Sept. 9.

They consumed large quantities of vegetables, and cases of fruit juices during the week-end and today invited Warden Christie to a borsch luncheon. He did not say if he would attend.

Unsavory Remains of Marine Monster Baffle Up-Island Fishermen

Identification of mass of decomposed flesh washed ashore at Willow Point, six miles south of Campbell River last Friday night, has baffled local residents. Remains clearly show skull, long neck, what could be flippers at base of neck, massive body, and long tail. Scientists, who have not yet seen remains, suggest basking shark. A well-known Victoria fisherman, Elgin Neish, said it was "possibly" a Davis whale.

Weapons Ban Asked By Reds At Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia called upon the UN today to impose without delay an unconditional ban on the production of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The Soviet proposal was laid before the 60-nation general assembly during a major policy declaration by deputy foreign minister Andrei Visinsky.

The Soviet delegate also served notice that Russia was ready to make a vigorous fight to get the assembly to revise its earlier decision barring neutral countries as representatives at the Korean peace conference. The Communist demands on this, he said, are justified and must be met.

The Soviet proposals on atomic control included hydrogen weapons by name, but otherwise followed closely Soviet disarmament resolutions of previous sessions.

Vishinsky assailed the United States as the real cause of world tension, charged Western policy in Germany threatened to touch off a new war and declared the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was aimed at weakening the UN.

Turns Over Mig to Allies

SEOUL (AP) — A daring North Korean pilot today handed the Allies a sleek Mig-15 jet fighter—the deadly Red warplane for which the United States offered $100,000 last February.

The Mig's guns were still armed when it raced unheralded from North Korea and made a perfect landing at sprawling Kimpo air base near Seoul.

It was the first Mig to fall into Allied hands in Korea. The Russian-built, swept-wing fighters never left their own air over Red territory during the war.

The pilot's name will not be revealed unless he personally consents.

PSYCHOPATHIC GRABBED IN AG's OFFICE

A 60-year-old escapee from Essondale Mental Hospital who attempted a bank hold-up here in 1951 with an air gun, was recaptured today in the Parliament Buildings where he was attempting to see Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Police were called to the attorney-general's office after the escapee, John Hughes, caused a disturbance when he was refused an immediate appointment with Mr. Bonner.

Purpose of his visit was not known.

RCMP took the man with out a struggle and he was to be returned to Essondale.

Hughes was committed to the hospital after a charge of attempted robbery was withdrawn in city police court in August two years ago.

He confronted a teller at the Government Street branch, Royal Bank of Canada, and demanded she cash a cheque for $15,000.

City's Fourth Polio Victim, Mother of 3

Fourth fatality from the current polio outbreak here, a mother of three, Mrs. Annie Bosworth Wadsworth, 35, 189 Regina Street, died this morning, seven days after being admitted to hospital.

There were three new cases over the week-end also, two of them a boy and girl from the same family

A 17-year-old girl and her brother, 14, were rushed to Jubilee Hospital isolation ward from Langford on Saturday. On Sunday, a 38-year-old man from View Royal was admitted.

Jubilee Hospital administrator, George Masters, reports the influx of new patients has created no new equipment difficulties. Seven iron lungs are in use with two still available as spares.

The hospital is still using respirators loaned by other city hospitals and has received three new lungs recently.

Total number of polio cases on the Island this year now stands at 70, with 57 cases occurring in Greater Victoria. The death of Mrs. Wadsworth increases to four the number of deaths, all from this area.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wadsworth will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. from St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road. Canon Robert Willis will officiate and interment will be at Royal Oak.

Surviving are her husband, Bernard; a son, Paul, and two daughters, Doreen and Gail. Father of the deceased, David R. Smith, and a brother, David, also reside here. A sister, Mrs. Ethel Vandale, lives in Calgary.

Dickinson, Wilkes Named Boxla Refs for Tonight

By BILL WALKER

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is not bowing to Peterborough demands concerning referees in the current Mann Cup lacrosse championships.

Thus president Jim McLeod of the CLA today explained the appointment of referees Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes for tonight's fourth game of the series which is virtually assured of being a sellout.

McLeod said that Dickinson's and Wilkes' appointment originally was made Thursday and had no bearing whatsoever on the Peterborough threat not to take the floor tonight if Gordy Folka was named as one of the officials.

"I want it understood that Peterborough is in no way intimidating us," he said of coach Bobby Thorpe's statement that the Petes would protest the use of Folka.

Memorial Arena officials stated at noon today that less than 100 tickets were available and that "they are going like hotcakes." Near capacity crowds attended the first three games.

Peterborough leads the series two games to one. Game time is 8.30.

U.S. Magnate Backs Plan Report Claims

NEW YORK (UP)—Sources close to Clendenin Ryan said today the millionaire socialite and several associates had "invested several million dollars" in what they believes has been a successful attempt to smuggle Lavrenti Beria from behind the Iron Curtain.

The sources said Ryan had had agents in Russia for at least three years and had laid the groundwork at the time of Stalin's death for the escape of a defecting or deposed contender for his power.

One source said he believed Ryan had himself gone behind the Iron Curtain to meet his agents.

Ryan was said to be "not in" at his New York and New Jersey homes and at his Manhattan office.

Sources said he had conferred frequently over several years with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R—Wis.) and other senators regarding his apparently private spy ring. He was said to have been in touch also with Col. Ulio Amoss, who told reporters he had been approached in July by a man claiming to represent Beria.

From 'Purely' 'Patriotic' Motives

Ryan and his associates were said to have acted from purely "patriotic" motives in an attempt to secure top Soviet secrets for the United States. The plot was said to have been laid in the expectation that at least one highly-placed Russian leader would fall from the heap in the struggle for power after Stalin's death.

Ryan, 48-year-old grandson and heir of the late financier Thomas Fortune Ryan, has been active in Republican reform politics for many years

Ryan is a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of a Texas oil firm and a Portugese diamond company.

He served in the Second World War as a navy commander in the Pacific.

Story Received With Skepticism

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government officials expressed skepticism today about a report that deposed Soviet leader Lavrenti P. Beria has escaped from Russia.

The report came from a highly-placed informant on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's senate investigating subcommittee. The informant, who would not let his name be used, said Beria is "in contact" with subcommittee agents abroad and is eager to come to this country to "tell all he knows about the international Communist conspiracy."

Beria, once the number two man in the Kremlin, was fired July 9 as head of the Russian secret police and charged with treason. Western authorities have assumed that he was in a Soviet prison awaiting trial, but there has been no direct word on his whereabouts.

The McCarthy subcommittee informant conceded the possibility that Beria's reported escape may be a gigantic hoax. He first told reporters flatly Russia for more than a month and the subcommittee has been in personal contact with him for a considerable length of time." Later, however, he said the subcommittee is still investigating the matter and does not yet have conclusive proof that the man claiming to be Beria is the deposed Soviet leader.

No confirmation of the report could be obtained from government agencies which normally would be concerned with such an affair.

Audience Contorted With Tears As Kabuki Star Whips Emotions

Miss Forbes is in Japan for a six weeks' tour and is sending her dispatches from the points of interest she visits. She traveled to Tokyo with Canada's Ambassador to Japan, Robert W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew. Since her arrival she has traveled wherever her fancy took her.

I have watched the great Kichieman walk from the green room, along the hanamichi or "flower way," through the left section of the famed Kabuki-za (za for theatre) in Tokyo. So close, I could see the heavy brocades and the silver and gold in his authentic costume as staff officer of a feudal lord of the 15th century in Japan. So close, I could watch the tremendous restraint on his face and the working of the muscles of his throat as he used his voice (deep and almost hoarse in its force) to convey to his audience the meaning of the part he was portraying.

I saw the intense interest of Japanese theatre-goers around me and actually felt their excitement as Kichieman worked on their emotions. And I was not surprised at the spontaneous shouts and almost screams from every part of the theatre . . . the tears and contorted faces of both men and women as they followed the meaning of the play . . . which we would have called a tragedy.

But nevertheless it contained so much grace of movement . . . of color and of perfect staging . . . the tragedy was almost submerged . . . at least for me.

In the same performance . . . but in another play . . . was Tokizo, veteran omagata (actor playing women's parts), who had all the skill born of years of training in such castings. Walk, movements of the hands and body, the soft falsetto voice and the costumes worn were so essentially feminine, it was hard to believe it was an actor in the part.

The evening performance started at 4.30 p.m. and continued until 10.30. Just before the doors opened I joined a huge line-up of Japanese people, old and young, a good percentage wearing kimonos (especially the women) and many with their evening meals wrapped in gay furoshi-ki (square kerchief in which both men and women in this country carry parcels).

When the doors opened, everyone dashed . . . even those with the better seats and there was a great elbowing and jockeying for position. During the performance of three plays and two lighter numbers . . . divertisements to us . . . none of the Japanese was still. They were continually running out for more food . . . to buy pictures of the actors . . . or just to talk and smoke.

Unsavory Remains of Marine Monster Baffle Up-Island Fishermen

Identification of mass of decomposed flesh washed ashore at Willow Point, six miles south of Campbell River last Friday night, has baffled local residents. Remains clearly show skull, long neck, remains of what could be flippers at base of neck, massive body, and long tail. Scientists, who have not yet seen remains, suggest basking shark. A well-known Victoria fisherman, Elgin Neish, said it was "possibly" a Davis whale. In lower picture, Carl Erickson, fishing guide, raises skull for inspection. Carcass measures 18 feet.

Russia Demands Ban on Superbomb

Vishinsky Puts New Plan Before 60-Nation Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Russia called upon the UN today to impose without delay an unconditional ban on the production of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The Soviet proposal was laid before the 60-nation general assembly during a major policy declaration by deputy foreign minister Andrie Vishinsky.

The Soviet delegate also served notice that Russia was ready to make a vigorous fight to get the assembly to revise its earlier decision barring neutral countrs as representatives at the Korean peace conference. The Communist demands on this, he said, are justified and must be met.

The Soviet proposals on atomic control included hydrogen weapons by name, but otherwise followed closely Soviet disarmament resolutions of previous sessions.

Vishinsky assailed the United States as the real cause of world tension, charged Western policy in Germany threatened to touch off a new war and declared the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was aimed at weakening the UN.

Four-Point Resolution

The Soviet disarmament resolution—first Soviet move on this subject since the death of Stalin and the accession of Georgi Malenkov as premier—had four points:

1. Immediate and unconditional prohibition of the atomic and hydrogen bombs with the security council—where Russia has the veto—to supervise compliance.

2. Immediate one-third reduction by the big five—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and China—in their armed forces with a conference shortly afterwards to discuss reduction of the armed forces of other countries.

3. Dismantling of military bases maintained in foreign countries. This was an obvious reference to the United States for Vishinsky had denounced U.S. bases overseas earlier in his speech.

4. Condemnation of propaganda tending to stimulate warlike psychosis.

The disarmament proposal was made as Vishinsky concluded a speech which lasted one hour and 43 minutes.

The Soviet delegate told the 60-nation general assembly the decision taken by the assembly last month ran counter to the armistice agreement in recommending that only countries representing the two belligerents should take part in the parley.

"The recommendation of this assembly must be brought into conformity with the armistice agreement," he said.

The United States has insisted that the armistice restricted the representation in the peace conference to the two sides, but the Russians have sought to make it a round-table affair by inviting India and other neutrals.

Vishinsky spoke from notes. In the past when he has not had a prepared text it indicated he had received new instructions too late for inclusion in a written speech.

Criticizes Dulles' Stand

The Soviet delegate attacked the position of the United States as "obdurate." He said State Secretary Dulles has adopted the policy of South Korean President Syngman Rhee and in doing everything possible "to thwart consideration of this question at the present session."

The former Soviet foreign minister, now head of the Soviet delegation to the UN, was first on today's list of speakers in the assembly's general policy debates.

Vishinsky asked for the spot Saturday at the same time he demanded that the UN reopen discussions on makeup of the Korean peace conference. He based his demands on Communist China's earlier cable insisting that the conference include Russia, India, Indonesia, Burma and Pakistan as "neutrals."

The assembly last month voted down a Russian proposal for such a "round-table" conference, approving instead plans for a two-sided parley of the 16 UN belligerents and South Korea on one side and whatever nations Red China and North Korea chose to sit with them on the other.

Some delegates thought Vishinsky's demand would obstruct and delay the conference, which the Allies have suggested start October 15 in either Honolulu, Geneva or San Francisco. Communist China has so far refused to answer the Allies'

The Korean armistice agreement set October 28 as the deadline for the parley to begin. Few here believe that date can be met because of the wrangling expected to follow Vishinsky's demand.

Mother of Three Dies of Polio; Fourth Fatality

Three New Cases During Week-End

Fourth fatality from the current polio outbreak here, a mother of three, Mrs. Annie Bosworth Wadsworth, 35, 189 Regina Street, died this morning, seven days after being admitted to hospital.

There were three new cases over the week-end also, two of them a boy and girl from the same family.

A 17-year-old girl and her brother, 14, were rushed to Jubilee Hospital isolation ward from Langford on Saturday. On Sunday, a 38-year-old man from View Royal was admitted.

Jubilee Hospital administrator, George Masters, reports the influx of new patients has created no new equipment difficulties. Seven iron lungs are in use with two still available as spares.

The hospital is still using respirators loaned by other city hospitals and has received three new lungs recently.

70 CASES

Total number of polio cases on the Island this year now stands at 70, with 57 cases occurring in Greater Victoria. The death of Mrs. Wadsworth increases to four the number of deaths, all from this area.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wadsworth will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. from St. Mark's Church, Boleskine Road. Canon Robert Willis will officiate and interment will be at Royal Oak.

Surviving are her husband, Bernard; a son, Paul, and two daughters, Doreen and Gail. Father of the deceased, David R. Smith, and a brother, David, also reside here. A sister, Mrs. Ethel Vandale, lives in Calgary.

PSYCHOPATHIC GRABBED IN AG's OFFICE

A 60-year-old escapee from Essondale Mental Hospital who attempted a bank hold-up here in 1951 with an air gun, was recaptured today in the Parliament Buildings where he was attempting to see Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Police were called to the attorney-General's office after the escapee, John Hughes, caused a disturbance when he was refused an immediate appointment with Mr. Bonner.

Purpose of his visit was not known.

RCMP took the man without a struggle and he was to be returned to Essondale.

Hughes was committed to the hospital after a charge of attempted robbery was withdrawn in city police court in August two years ago.

He confronted a teller at the Government Street branch, Royal Bank of Canada, and demanded she cash a cheque for $15,000.

When the teller refused, he fired the gun and ran from the bank, to be arrested a few hours later.

Mystery Shot Wounds Guard At Iron River

CAMPBELL RIVER — Joe 'French' Sala, gatekeeper at the Iron River Logging Co. road south of here, was rushed to Lourdes Hospital Sunday suffering a gunshot wound received while in his cabin.

He said he was lying on his bunk when struck by a bullet which he said came through his cabin wall. RCMP are investigating.

He was taken to hospital by two hunters who were approaching the cabin to ask permission to go through the gate when Sala rushed from his cabin with blood streaming down his face.

Two motorists, Clement Brosseau and A. Kenelley, both of Campbell River, were taken to hospital after their car struck a transformer power pole at 7.30 a.m. Sunday near Campbell River bridge.

They suffered cuts and shock, but were reported in good condition today.

U.S. Doubts Beria Escape

Ex-Soviet Police Chief Reported In Touch With McCarthy's Men

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government officials expressed skepticism today about a report that deposed Soviet leader Lavrenti P. Beria has escaped from Russia.

The report came from a highly-placed informant on Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's senate investigating subcommittee. The informant, who would not let his name be used, said Beria is "in contact" with subcommittee agents abroad and is eager to come to this country to "tell all he knows about the international Communist conspiracy."

Beria, once the number two man in the Kremlin, was fired July 9 as head of the Russian secret police and charged with treason. Western authorities have assumed that he was in a Soviet prison awaiting trial, but there has been no direct word on his whereabouts.

The McCarthy subcommittee informant conceded the possibility that Beria's reported escape may be a gigantic hoax. He first told reporters slatly that "Beria has been out of Russia for more than a month and the subcommittee has been in personal contact with him for a considerable length of time." Later, however, he said the subcommittee is still investigating the matter and does not yet have conclusive proof that the man claiming to be Beria is the deposed Soviet leader.

NO CONFIRMATION

No confirmation of the report could be obtained from government agencies which normally would be concerned with such an affair.

State department Officials said they knew absolutely nothing about the case. A White House spokesman said he assumed that if Beria wished to contact U.S. officials he would make his approach through diplomatic or intelligence channels rather than through a senate subcommittee.

The FBI and the central intelligence agency officially had "no comment." Privately, government intelligence experts were decidedly skeptical of the report.

The McCarthy subcommittee informant declined to give any details of Beria's purported escape, or present hiding place. But he said three other high ranking Communists escaped from Russia at the same time and are now with Beria.

He said the subcommittee is prepared to issue a subpoena to bring Beria to Washington to "testify before the subcommittee." He explained that while the subpoena would have no legal force outside the United States, the subcommittee is confident that Beria would accept the summons voluntarily. He said the subcommittee would then go to the state department and obtain an entry permit for him.

"Beria has said he is willing and anxious to testify before the subcommittee and is ready to list the names of American Communists with whom he has worked in the past," the informant said.

The San Diego Union disclosed meanwhile in a copyrighted dispatch that it has received information that Beria is in hiding in a "deep southern country."

Egypt Police Arrest Two Ex-Premiers

CAIRO, Egypt, (UP) — Government police arrested two former premiers and 11 other Egyptians today in swift predawn raids on homes of officials of ex-king Farouk's monarchy.

Authorities announced that 10 had been jailed and three placed under house arrest.

The government gave no immediate explanation for the arrests, but spokesmen for President Mohammed Naguib warned late last week that anti-government plotters would be brought to trial.

Most prominent of the arrested Egyptians were former premiers Mustafa El Nahas and Ibrahim Abdel Hadi and former cabinet chief Hafez Afifi.

Nahas, leader of the once-powerful Wafdist party, had been premier of Egypt five times. Abdel Hadi had been leader of the Saadist party.

Squadron leader Hassan Ibrahim, a judge on the military tribunal which will try Egyptians charged with plotting against the Naguib government, said the first case will be heard next Saturday.

"Apart from cases of treason, the tribunal will deal with acts involving corruption, profiteering and abuse of authority which took place in the past such as the defective arms bought for the Palestine War," Ibrahim said.

Korean Pilot Turns Over Mig to Allies

SEOUL (AP) — A daring North Korean pilot today handed the Allies a sleek Mig-15 jet fighter—the deadly Red warplane for which the United States offered $100,000 last February.

The Mig's guns were still armed when it raced unheralded from North Korea and made a perfect landing at sprawling Kimpo air base near Seoul.

It was the first Mig to fall into Allied hands in Korea. The Russian-built, swept-wing fighters never left their own air over Red territory during the war.

The UN command said the $100,000 reward offered for the first Mig to bolt to the Allies is still in effect.

There was no quick reaction from the Communists.

In Tokyo, Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Forces commander, said the flier was a North Korean.

Weyland announced the jet was from a "North Korean air unit." It is being studied by U.S. Air Force officers.

IDENTITY WITHHELD

The pilot's name will not be revealed unless he personally consents.

The pilot disappeared behind a tight wall of secrecy and Kimpo air base was closed to everyone but authorized military personnel.

A psychological warfare colonel near Seoul said American Sabre jets met the Mig over the southern boundary of the demilitarized strip across the Korean Peninsula and escorted the Red fighter to Seoul.

Douks Remanded; Eight More Guilty

37 Convicted, Seven Acquitted; Warden Invited to Dine as Fast Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—In the makeshift court in a Burnaby hall, 37 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, scheduled to be sentenced today for parading in the nude in public, were remanded until Friday. The prisoners include four women.

The remand was ordered when the court was told that prisoners' documents had not arrived from Nelson. Magistrate Graham Ladner had requested the records of the men and women before pronouncing sentence.

The accused were the first of 144 Sons of Freedom members convicted following the opening of the trials last Thursday. They were arrested at the Perry Siding tent village near Nelson following a nude demonstration Sept. 9.

Following the remand today eight more Sons of Freedom Doukhobors were found guilty of parading in the nude, but seven others were acquitted on the charge.

One of the women who was acquitted of the charge protested violently, and tried to disrobe in the court. Royal Canadian Mounted Police restrained her, however.

The eight convicted Freedomites were remanded until Friday for sentencing. Their convictions brought to 37 the total number of members of the religious Russian sect found guilty of disrobing at Perry's Siding, B.C., in a mass parade.

Meanwhile, at Oakalla Prison, Warden Hugh Christie said the Doukhobors have virtually ended their fast. The hunger strike started Sept. 9.

They consumed large quantities of vegetables, and cases of fruit juices during the week-end and today invited Warden Christie to a borsch luncheon. He did not say if he would attend.

ADDED REASON

KRESTOVA (CP)—Quarrels between factions in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect were seen today as an added reason for unrest in the turbulent Kootenays.

The Freedomites, 144 of their number now facing trial at Vancouver, have long acknowledged Stefan S. Sorokin as their spiritual leader. Recent home burnings and nude parades were taken as a protest against a government edict that they send their children to school. It was a demonstration against this edict that landed the 144 in prison.

But Doukhobor sources also stated Sunday that a faction led by John Lebedoff, who in the past has served a jail term for arson, still challenges the leadership right of the bearded Sorokin. This could lead to violent repercussions among the Freedomites.

Lebedoff, whose whereabouts in the Kootenays are not divulged here, swings considerable weight in the ranks of the radical sect, but has never won title of leadership in the sense of Sorokin. Sorokin is in Uruguay.

Dickinson, Wilkes Named Boxla Refs for Tonight

By BILL WALKER

The Canadian Lacrosse Association is not bowing to Peterborough demands concerning referees in the current Mann Cup lacrosse championships.

Thus president Jim McLeod of the CLA today explained the appointment of referees Bill Dickinson and Bill Wilkes for tonight's fourth game of the series which is virtually assured of being a sellout.

McLeod said that Dickinson's and Wilkes' appointment originally was made Thursday and had no bearing whatsoever on the Peterborough threat not to take the floor tonight if Gordy Filka was named as one of the officials.

"I want it understood that Peterborough is in no way intimidating us," he said of coach Bobby Thorpe's statement that the Petes would protest the use of Folka.

Memorial Arena officials stated at noon today that less than 100 tickets were available and that "they are going like hotcakes." Near capacity crowds attended the first three games.

Peterborough leads the series two games to one. Game time is 8.30.
